SCHNEIDER IS JAIL; ALLEGED BOND NOT GOOD

Arrested at Napoleon and Brought to Bismark by Deputy Sheriff Kafer

BENCH WARRANT ISSUED

States Attorney Asserts
Bondsmen Do Not Have
Property to Cover Bond

Kasimir Schneider, tried recently on a charge of poisoning his wife, was lodged in jail here last night by Deputy Sheriff Ed. Kafer, being brought here from Napoleon upon a bench warrant.

The order of arrest was issued by District Judge Jansson after an application had been filed by State's Attorney Allen, who asserted that the bond of Schneider was not a good bond. The defendant and bondsmen will have opportunity to controvert the statements.

Schneider had gone to Napoleon to consult relatives when he was arrested.

The states attorney in his application for a bench warrant said that the people who had signed Schneider's bond for $15,000 were not qualified, he alleging their aggregate worth above exemptions was less than $10,000 and hardly more than $5,000. They had qualified both jointly and severally and should be worth $15,000 each, he said. He set out an abstract of the incumbrances on property of some and said that John L. Schneider, brother of Kasimir Schneider, had transferred his property to his wife, signing the bond. He also filed a statement by the treasurer of Logan county as to the taxes paid and on what property.

The bondsmen, of Kasimir Schneider were John L. Schneider, Bernhard Meier and R. Hochhalter.

The state's attorney declined to make further statement except to say that the state will insist that Schneider be kept in jail pending a second trial to be held at Valley City, unless an absolutely good bond is furnished, and that unless the statute directs a release on bond will take the position that he ought to be kept in jail anyway.

BIG PROGRAM FOR RETAILERS

Committee Meeting in Minot
Plans for Convention

Minot, N. D., March 21.—At a meeting here of the executive committee of the North Dakota Retailers' association, arrangements were completed for the annual convention of the organization in Minot, June 12, 13 and 14, when it is expected between 400 and 500 North Dakota merchants will gather.

The state committee is composed of T. Welvo, president of Velva; J. B. Lyon, vice president of Williston; H. L. Selvig, director of Plaza; N. B. Garmann, director of Oberon; and Wm. A. Donnelly, secretary, at Valley City. Donnelly announced the program would be most attractive from the standpoint of the practical merchant. Gov. R. A. Nestos will speak, and there will be speakers of national reputation on retailing subjects from many points in the country. The question box, a big feature of the conventions, will be in charge of Senator George M. Peterson of Duluth, assisted by Fred E. Mann of Devils Lake, past president.

A jobbers committee composed of Stanley Colburn, S. S. Morgan and D. E. Mair was named to co-operate with the retail section of the Association of Commerce in completing arrangements for the convention.

BILLY'S WRATH IS APPEASED

Twenty-four years ago the ire of Billy Laist, custodian at the state capitol, was appeased. A workman lost a pair of pliers he had been using in making changes in the offices now occupied by the state examiner. His wrath was appeased yesterday, for while making a change in the partitions, the pliers were found in the hollow space between the partitions.

"I told that man he nailed these pliers up," said Billy, recalling the incident.

Elliott Wadsworth Says U. S.
Sticks to Plan for Repayment of Troops Cost

20-MILLION A YEAR

Paris, Mar. 21.—Payment of twenty million dollars a year for 12 years to the United States in settlement of the cost of the American Army of Occupation in Germany seems feasible, in the opinion of Elliott Wadsworth, assistant Secretary of the American Treasury.

Mr. Wadsworth expressed the opinion that the United States would accept only cash payments and that the Washington government would have no part in any steps taken by the allies in collecting the money.

Mr. Wadsworth asserted that the value of seized German ships in the United States would not be deducted from the total due this country inasmuch as this property was considered as collateral for claims against Germany.

STEEN VICTOR IN CONTEST

Held to Have Been Regularly
Elected States Attorney

Mandan, Mar. 21.—States Attorney I. N. Steen of Grant county was legally elected by 30 majority last fall in the opinion of District Judge H. L. Berry, who last night dismissed upon motion of attorneys for Mr. Steen an election contest brought by Vincent Hogan of New Leipzig, defeated candidate for states attorney of Grant county.

VELVA HOTEL DESTROYED

Velva, N. D., Mar. 21.—Fire destroyed the City Hotel and Restaurant at Velva. The damage is estimated at approximately $5,000. The blaze originated in the kitchen. The proprietor is John Brauer. The loss is partially covered by insurance. The structure was one of the first to be built in Velva.

BISMARCK CHEWED 50 MILES OF GUM DURING 1922-TO CHEW MORE IN '23

Have you that tired feeling? Are you worried, cross and irritable? Do you fail to keep your head when all about are losing theirs and blaming it on you?

What do you do under such circumstances? Well among other things you begin to chew gum. It is chewed more by women than men, because men are not reduced to such exigencies as women are. Yet there are many addicted to the use of chewing gum. There has been no campaign launched against it and if there was the chewing gum sales would be increased. For chewing gum is here with us to stay, says F. O'Rourke, of the American Chicle Co., in Bismarck yesterday. Mr. O'Rourke continued, "Last year the total of $60,000,000 was consumed in the United States. Chewing gum, the dictionary tells us, is a resinous gum used as a masticatory. It is strange, isn't it, how many business girls who are in too big a hurry to stop at noon to properly chew their food will improperly chew gum. There are ways and means of chewing gum and some gum chewers conceal it they do not suspect. We wouldn't chew it if

HUGE AMOUNT OF LOANS MADE

The farm loan department of the Bank of North Dakota, in one of its busiest months, made 108 loans of a total of $318,000 from March 1 to March 19 inclusive. It was announced today, the loans being completed in sixteen working days. Loans average about $3,000 each.

CONDITIONS IN CITY GOOD, IS REPORT GIVEN

Sixth District Medical Society
Hears Report on
Disease

Various medical subjects were discussed at the meeting of the Sixth District Medical Society, held at the Association of Commerce rooms last night here.

Dr. F. R. Smyth gave a resume of legislation in the recent session of the legislature, with a reference to public health and medical legislation. Dr. Bodenstab gave a resume of amended senate bill No. 54, which provides for a health council, a full-time health officer, and offices in Bismarck. Dr. H. A. Brandes reported upon two cases of heart disease, condition and progress as observed. Dr. Stackhouse reported upon a complicated case of influenza and pneumonia. Dr. Bodenstab reported on the local death rate, separating the resident and non-resident deaths, which he said showed a favorable condition with respects to residential mortality. From reports submitted by various conditions were favorable as not many deaths were attributed to contagious diseases in the last three years, he said. He suggested that certificates be more thoroughly filled out as to causes of death, place of residence of deceased so as to get an absolutely officially correct report.

Out-of-town physicians at the meeting included Dr. Gordon of Washburn and Drs. Altman and Erwin of Mandan.

GRANTS STAY.

Valley City, Mar. 21.—Judge M. J. Engler has granted another stay of a week to George J. Jacobson, banker, who is confined in the county jail under sentence for embezzlement. Mr. Jacobson is trying to get a $10,000 bond required by the court and being unable to get it by the five days allowed by the court this other week has been granted to him to give him all the chance possible to secure a bond.

GOES DOWN 29 DEGREES FROM YESTERDAY AS COLD WAVE HITS STATE

A 29-degree drop in temperature from yesterday to 8 o'clock this morning dispelled the idea of balmy spring from the minds of local citizens temporarily. The cold wave was accompanied by some snow flurries, which may continue intermittently during the day, but did not reach the intensity feared by many expectant people.

The lowest point reached was 13 above at 8 o'clock this morning. The forecast for tonight is partly cloudy, and colder weather in the south and west portions of North Dakota.

A. C. ENROLLMENT IS INCREASED

Fargo, Mar. 21.—Enrollment at the North Dakota Agricultural college for the spring term reached 723 today, according to A. H. Parrott, registrar.

This figure at noon of the second day of the term, compares with 431 at the close of the first week last year, an increase of 50 percent.

Registration is much heavier than was expected, Mr. Parrott said. The spring term enrollment includes only students in the college and high school courses, short courses and industrial courses having closed.

LIVES WITH BULLET IN HEART

Berlin, Mar. 21.—Charged with embezzlement, there recently appeared in a Berlin court a former German soldier whom a surgeon described as a medical phenomenon.

While fighting at the front a bullet entered the man's heart while it was contracting and remains there to this day, moving in exact rhythm with contraction and expansion of the heart.

Had the man been hit half a second later, when the heart was expanding, said one physician, instantaneous death would have been inevitable.

STOCK, BARRED FROM BOND, IN BIG RISE

Wiggly Marks New York
Financial Day

LOSSES, GAINS, HEAVY

New York, Mar. 21.—Barred from the big board of the New York stock exchange Piggy Wiggly stock today made another sensational advance "over the counter" when trading opened. The stock was quoted at 74 bid and 85 asked, but shortly after 11 o'clock the quotation read 100 bid and 150 asked.

Trading in Class A common of the chain grocery stores was suspended yesterday by the Board of Governors of the New York stock exchange after one of the most violent price fluctuations in the history of the exchange during which speculators were squeezed for heavy losses. The shares leaped from 72 to 124 and closed to 82, which was openly 10 points up from Monday's close.

Wall street buzzed today with the report of heavy losses sustained by some professional speculators and comfortable profits made by others. One report said a retired Providence, Rhode Island grocer, a novice at trading, had made a profit of $8,000. Claims against the "shorts" were settled by arbitration.

SMOKE, MASSAGE MAY COST HIGH OFFICIAL LIFE

Sofia, Mar. 21.—The combination of a quiet smoke and an alcohol massage may cost Minister of Commerce Oboss his life. While the massage was at work the minister lit a cigarette. The alcohol took fire and he was badly burned with the result that his condition is serious. He was appointed to the ministerial post in the recent reorganization of the cabinet.

NAPOLÉON TO KEEP SCHOOL

Napoleon, N. D., March 20.—Discontinuation of the Napoleon high school as an economy measure, as suggested by the school board, was opposed at a meeting here of school patrons.

It was argued that the district is in good condition financially; that an addition to the high school would solve the housing problem, and that the district may bond, upon approval by voters, in sufficient sum to finance the addition.

The school board was requested to obtain plans and cost estimates of a suitable addition, to be presented at a later meeting of taxpayers to consider a bond election.

As one upshot of the situation, Charles J. Hoof resigned as a school director, after serving 35 years.

EVIDENCE ON SECT SECRETS IS PROMISED

Searchlight to be Turned on
House of David, Benton
Harbor Colony

FIRST WITNESS APPEARS

Claims That Leader of Cult
Drank Beer, Made
Advances

Grand Rapids, Mich., Mar. 21.—Instead of an early conclusion of the hearing in federal court of the suit filed by John Hansell for accounting with the Israelite House of David extended testimony was in prospect today as a result of a ruling by the court that the evidence might deal with alleged immoral conditions within the Benton Harbor colony.

Under the ruling only two witnesses for the plaintiff were heard yesterday and eight for Henry G. Dewhirst, counsel for the House of David, informed the court that the testimony opened up a field that could not be covered by both sides short of three weeks. At the end of that time attorneys declared, testimony would be of such divergent nature "that the truth would not appear."

Hansell sued for an accounting of $29,000 of property turned over to the colony at the time he entered it many years ago. He claimed that he was ejected from the colony and none of the property returned to him.

A defense motion for a continuance until some future date was denied by Judge Sather this morning. In presenting the motion counsel for the house of David declared the turn in testimony dealing with allegations of immorality found him unprepared.

Preacher Testifies.
Mrs. Emma Lozetta of Newark, N. J., a former preacher of the cult was today's witness. She testified she entered the colony from Burbin, Birmingham, Ala., with her mother in 1906, and asserted she was subjected to improper advances by Purnell within two months after her entrance.

"He told me," she testified, "that whatever he did was proper."

"One day," she continued, "he called me into the bath room. Benjamin was in the tub and three other girls were there."

Mrs. Lozetta asserted that the basement of Philip Purnell's residence was filled with beer. Benjamin called it "foam" and said it purged his soul, he declared.

He drank it continually. The witness also asserted there was drunkenness among the girls at Shiloh.

ODD FELLOWS' OPINION ASKED

Home Board Delays Beginning of Building at Devils
Lake

Odd Fellows of the state will determine whether or not the state home will be built this year or not. C. R. Green of Bismarck, member of the home board, said today. When the board found it lacked $15,000 to $20,000 to build the home as planned by architects, a questionaire was prepared for all lodges in the state to determine if a per capita assessment of about $2.50 each would be added to the home fund. Replies thus far indicate a majority will favor the assessment.

The board purchased a $20,000 site near Devils Lake, and has about $80,000 in its building fund. The home, it is estimated, will cost from $75,000 to $80,000.

Increased activity by Rotarians in community affairs and continued efforts to improve general business ethics were urged by speakers at yesterday's session of the ninth district Rotary conference.

Carl Weeks of Des Moines, a member of the international committee on business methods, gave the final address of the afternoon. He said practical results have already been accomplished by Rotary's method of advocating adoption of codes of ethics among business organizations and that much greater results will be achieved in the future.

JURORS' PROTEST GOES NO HIGHER

The protest made by 27 federal court jurors here against the statements of United States District Attorney Hildreth which were held derogatory to the jury will not be carried to the Department of Justice at Washington, according to D. E. Shipley, member of the jury, who was selected to make the protest of the jurors in open court. The majority of the jurors, he said, resent the statements of the district attorney but were satisfied with publicly stating their position.

The ire of the jurors were aroused by a newspaper interview in which Col. Hildreth was reported as saying that perjury is becoming all too common and that jurors and witnesses as well disregard the oath.

DES LACS MEN OUST WOMEN OFFICIALS AT VILLAGE ELECTION, SPRING COUP BY USING STICKERS FOR CANDIDATES

Des Lacs, N. D., Mar. 21.—Keeping secret until the last hour their plan to oust the feminine administration which for the past year has governed this village, political forces here opposed to the officers elected a year ago yesterday distributed stickers bearing the names of a complete ticket of male aspirants for the offices, resulting in the election of masculine candidates by an almost two to one vote.

The women were unaware of the plan of the opposition forces and although there had been rumors that secret caucuses had been held they were unable to ferret out the truth of the reports.

The stickers were distributed secretly among the voters yesterday and probably not until the ballot boxes were opened last night and the counting of ballots begun did the women realize that they had been victims of a clever political coup.

The stickers were printed at Minot. It was a few months ago that opposition began to develop against the women's regime. G. A. Buttery, who is engaged in the grain buying business here, jokingly referred to himself as "Big Tim" Buttery and told the women that if they wished to be re-elected to office they would have to talk "cold turkey" to him. They did not. There was talk that the women were figure heads of one or two prominent men in the city and ran the city just about as they were directed from sources outside the offices of the village government.

The group opposing the women held informal conferences and decided upon the sticker route as means of defeating the women.

The new officers are: Chairman Robert Becker; trustees J. C. Cogdill and Emanuel W. Mollenkopf; clerks S. L. Dover; treasurer S. D. Lund; justice of the peace, the Rev. W. D. Hauk; marshal, Charley Coffey; assessor Carl Solomonson.

The town of Des Lacs, west of Minot, achieved nation-wide notoriety a year ago when the first complete set of women's officials ever elected in a village or city was chosen. The first "spring" came sometime later when Mrs. F. H. Ward resigned a village marshal after things got "too tough," and Daniel Olson, husky section foreman, was appointed. Two women were entered for constable yesterday.

Mrs. H. L. Halvorson was chairman of the village board during the past year. One of the improvements made under the women's regime was the installation of a reservoir to furnish water to the village, and this expenditure was the subject of much debate.

The vote for trustees, three of whom were elected was: R. D. Becker, 48; Mark Cook, 6; incumbent, Thekla Johnson, 5; J. C. Cogdill, 45; Mrs. T. M. Filbert, incumbent, 24; E. W. Mollenkopf, 43; Mr. H. L. Halvorson, incumbent, 28.

CHARGED WITH FORGING NAME OF HIS SISTER

Ed Allensworth, whose home is near Glenquo, is under arrest and in the county jail on a charge of forging the name of his sister to a check for less than $20. A preliminary hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Beer.

ROTARY CHOICE NARROWS TO TWO MEMBERS

McClintock of Minneapolis or Ayes of Eli to be District
Governor

LOCAL MEN SPEAKERS

Ninth District Convention
Comes to End, This Afternoon

St. Paul, Mar. 21.—O. McClintock, of Minneapolis or Dr. C. T. Ayes, of Eli, Minn., will be the choice of the Ninth District Rotary convention for district governor for the coming year, the two being the only candidates nominated before balloting began at noon.

At the morning session of the conference Dr. H. B. Kroese of Jamestown urged the Rotarians to maintain the most cordial relations with similar clubs and to keep their own district field of work. All such clubs should have some specialty of service he said. The conference will close this afternoon.

Many North Dakota Rotarians appeared on the program today at the district conference of Rotary clubs being held here. Discussions on "Classifications" was led by W. L. Weiland of Brainerd, Minn.; "Club Bulletins" by Burt Finney of Bismarck, N. D.; and "Relations with Similar Organizations" by Dr. B. L. Kroese of Jamestown, N. D. Each of the Rotarians had seven minutes to present his topic.

The program for today included reading of a paper on "The Rotary Plan" by General Secretary Chesley R. Perry; a discussion of education and other business.

Increased activity by Rotarians in community affairs and continued efforts to improve general business ethics were urged by speakers at yesterday's session of the ninth district Rotary conference.

Carl Weeks of Des Moines, a member of the international committee on business methods, gave the final address of the afternoon. He said practical results have already been accomplished by Rotary's method of advocating adoption of codes of ethics among business organizations and that much greater results will be achieved in the future.

Students of Bismarck are interested in seeing their young girls given the same opportunities for physical development, by means of direction in play as are the boys of the city. Girls are much less likely to enter into out-of-door sports than boys unless they have a leader who can direct their movements and plan for organized play, declared the women who are interested in seeing the plan go over.

As the first step in raising funds to start the work they have arranged for these famous puppet entertainers to come to Bismarck. Rip Van Winkle will be presented in the afternoon while the marionettes will appear in a 1923 adaptation of Cervantes' famous old romance, Don Quixote, in the evening.

The public will see a number of things done by mechanical actors which are impossible on the usual stage. In the afternoon grown folks will enjoy seeing Rip Van Winkle, his shrewish dame, Rip's dog, Nicholas Vedder, and others—famous in that American classic perform.

Students of romance will remember that the romantic Knight in Don Quixote suffered from illusions because he had read too much of Medieval spiritism and romance, and that he imagined a flock of sheep to be an army while a windmill seemed to him to be a giant standing in his way. Those things have been worked out in the play so that there is every semblance of ease in the action.

Don Quixote lends itself easily to the marionette production because the characters are humorous in themselves and there is much action, without which any puppet show would be helpless. Since Cervantes' famous old story is itself a caricature, Tony Sarg found free rein for his talents in the same direction.

Don Quixote's mount, Rosinante and that of his squire, Dapple, with a herd of sheep rambling spring jamps, and a humblebee all are an essential part of the story and do much to keep the audience in continuous laughter.

The Marionettes under Sarg in the Twin Cities about once a year for special entertainments, and those from Bismarck who have seen them declare that they are delighted.

ARMOUR DEAL ABOUT CLOSED

Chicago, March 21.—Preparations were being made today to close the deal for the purchase of Morris and Company by Armour and Company. There was a possibility, it was stated, that the final papers would be signed today.

Madras, India, March 21.—Mrs. Margaret Cousins, newspaper woman, has been appointed a magistrate here, the first woman to fill such a post in India.

SEEK FUNDS TO PRESS TABERT PROSECUTION

Appeal of "Martin Tabert Fund Committee" Is Received in Bismarck

THE CASE IS OUTLINED

Heavy Expense Involved in Bringing Slaying to Justice, Is Statement

A public appeal for subscriptions to aid in the fight to bring to justice in Florida those alleged responsible for the death of Martin Tabert, Cavalier county boy, by flogging in a convict lumber camp, where he was leased by the county after having been arrested for stealing a ride on a train, has been issued by the "Martin Tabert Fund Committee" of Langdon, North Dakota. The committee is composed of E. P. Harwood, Ludvig Pederson and J. W. Mahon.

In an appeal forwarded to The Tribune, the committee encloses a statement addressed to the newspaper, women's clubs, American Legion and other organizations, which reads as follows:

"We assume that you have read of the horrible death of Martin Tabert of Munich while in a prison camp in Florida. The fact disclosed in this case, which was personally investigated by State Attorney Grimsom of Langdon, causes all to feel that American Citizens should arise and abolish the system allowing such things to occur. The Tabert case is not the only instance of cruelty and suffering under this private penal system. We have evidence of many other cases.

"The State or County cannot furnish funds for the prosecution of cases outside of the State. The Taberts have not the money. Any fund to help prosecute this case must therefore, be raised by public subscription.

"The Legislature of the State of North Dakota has asked the Legislature of the State of Florida to make a complete investigation of this case and to punish the guilty parties. The Governor of Florida has promised that this will be done. The best witnesses, however, live outside of the State of Florida, and the State of Florida cannot compel them to go there and testify. We must see that they get there and on account of the distance and time required that will cost money. The Grand Jury called to investigate this case meets on March 28th, therefore quick action is necessary to get money enough to get the witnesses there.

"Feeling that such a just cause would appeal to you we are taking the liberty of sending the enclosed subscription list and literature to you and ask that you, either through your paper or organization or personally, would kindly see that a public subscription is taken and secure a generous aid and help in this matter as possible. Funds are needed by Fred A. Thompson, Langdon, N. D. has been made custodian of the fund so forward to him any money secured.

Respectfully yours,
MARTIN TABERT
FUND COMMITTEE.

Ludvig Pederson,
J. W. Mahon.

SAYS HARDING WILL GET 1924 NOMINATION

Miami, Fla., Mar. 21.—While the public today is "died of politics" talk of the last few months," according to Attorney General Daugherty, President Harding will be nominated in 1924 convention.

Mr. Daugherty so stated last night in commenting on his previous declaration that Pres. Harding would be the party candidate in 1924 and no change appears to be booked on the Republican platform for the opinion of the attorney general, which will be a mainstay in handling of war problems, and reduction of expenditures, and the burden of taxation, enforcement of law and application of business principles in affairs of the government.

IS "WELCOMED" AT STANTON BY "DRY" OFFICIALS

Jamestown, N. D., Mar. 21.—While Paul Raiko, who is at present out of jail awaiting trial in the Stanton county court on charges of keeping a room for gambling purposes, for entering one to enter a place of gambling, was taken to the Northern Pacific depot with two suitcases containing eight gallons of a cologne, he was cordially greeted by Officer H. L. Briggs who, acting in conjunction with federal officers arrested him for transporting and having in his possession intoxicating liquor.

Raiko was taken before Justice Murphy Tuesday afternoon, waived examination, and signified his intention to plead guilty to the transportation charge. Justice Murphy fixed his bail at $500 and he was immediately taken before County Judge R. G. McFarland who upon plea of guilty, sentenced him to 15 days in the county jail and to a fine of $200.

SCHNEIDER IS JAIL; ALLEGED BOND NOT GOOD

BENCH WARRANT ISSUED

States Attorney Asserts
Bondsmen Do Not Have
Property to Cover Bond

Kasimir Schneider, tried recently on a charge of poisoning his wife, was lodged in jail here last night by Deputy Sheriff Ed. Kafer, being brought here from Napoleon upon a bench warrant.

The order of arrest was issued by District Judge Janssonius after an application had been filed by State's Attorney Allen, who asserted that the bond of Schneider was not a good bond. The defendant and bondsmen will have opportunity to controvert
the statements.

Schneider had gone to Napoleon to consult relatives when he was arrested.

The states attorney in his application for a bench warrant said that the people who had signed Schneider's bond for $15,000 were not qualified, he alleging their aggregate worth above exemptions was less than $10,000 and hardly more than $5,000. They had qualified both jointly and severally and should be worth $15,000 each, he said. He set out an abstract of the incumbrances on property of some and said that John L. Schneider, brother of Kasimir Schneider, had transferred his property to his wife after signing the bond. He also filed a statement by the treasurer of Logan county as to the taxes paid and on what property.

The bondsmen, of Kasimir Schneider were John L. Schneider, Bernhard
Moser and H. H. Hagedorn.

The state's attorney declined to make further statement except to say that the state will insist that Schneider be kept in jail pending his second trial, to be held at Valley
City, unless an absolutely good bond is furnished, and that unless the state directs a release on bond will take the position that he ought to be kept in jail anyway.

20 MILLION A YEAR

Paris, Mar. 21.—Payment of twenty million dollars a year for 12 years to the United States in settlement of the cost of the Amer-

Sixth District Medical Society Hears Report on
Disease

Various medical subjects were discussed at the meeting of the Sixth District Medical Society, held at the Association of Commerce rooms last night here.

Dr. H. A. Smyth gave a resume of legislation in the recent session of the legislature, with a reference to public health and medical legislation. Dr. Bodenstein gave a resumé of amended senate bill No.
54, which provides for a health council, a full-time health officer, and offices in Bismarck. Dr. H. A.
Brander reported upon two cases of heart disease, condition and progress as observed. Dr. Stackhouse reported upon a complicated case of influenza and pneumonia.

Dr. Bodenstein reported on the local death rate, separating the resident and non-resident deaths, which he said showed a favorable condition with respects to resident mortality. From reports submitted sanitary conditions were favorable as not many deaths were attributed to contagious diseases in the last three years, he said. He urged death certificates be more thoroughly filled out as to causes of death, place of residence of deceased so as to get an absolutely officially correct report.

Out-of-town physicians at the meeting included Dr. Gordon of Washburn, and Drs. Altman and Erwin of Mandan.

STOCK, BARRED FROM BOND, IN BIG RISE

Sensational Trading in Piggly
Wiggly Marks New York
Financial Day

LOSSES, GAINS, HEAVY

New York, Mar. 21.—Barred from the big board of the New York stock exchange Piggly Wiggly stock today made another sensational advance
"over the counter" when trading opened. The stock was quoted at 74 bid and 85 asked, but shortly after 11 o'clock the quotation read 100 bid and 150 asked.

Trading in Class A common of the chain grocery stores was suspended yesterday by the Board of Governors of the New York stock exchange after one of the most violent price fluctuations in the history of the exchange during which speculators were squeezed for heavy losses. The shares leaped from 72 to 124 and closed to 82, which was opened 10 points up from Monday's close.

Wall street buzzed today with the report of heavy losses sustained by some professional speculators and comfortable profits made by others.

One report said a retired Providence,
Rhode Island grocer, a novice at trading, had made a profit of $8,000.
Claims against the "shorts" were settled by arbitration.

MERCURY IN SHARP DROP

Goes Down 29 Degrees from Yesterday as Cold Wave
Hits State

A 29 degree drop in temperature from yesterday to 8 o'clock this morning dispelled the idea of balm spring from the minds of local citizens temporarily. The cold wave was accompanied by some snow flurries, which may continue intermittently during the day, but did not reach the intensity feared by many expectant people.

The lowest point reached was 13 above at 8 o'clock this morning.
The forecast for tonight is partly cloudy, and colder weather in the south and west portions of North Dakota.

EVIDENCE ON SECT SECRETS IS PROMISED

Searchlight to be Turned on
House of David, Benton
Harbor Colony

FIRST WITNESS APPEARS

Claims That Leader of Cult
Drank Beer, Made
Advances

Grand Rapids, Mich., Mar. 21.—Instead of an early conclusion of the hearing in federal court of the suit filed by John Hansell for accounting with the Israelite House of David extended testimony in prospect today as a result of a ruling by the court that the evidence might deal with alleged immoral conditions within the Benton Harbor colony.

Under the ruling only two witnesses for the plaintiff were heard yesterday and eight for Henry G. Dew-hurst, counsel for the House of David, informed the court that the testimony opened up a field that could not be covered by both sides short of three weeks. At the end of that time, attorneys declared, testimony would be of such divergent nature
"that the truth would not appear."

Hansell sued for an accounting of $20,000 of property turned over to the colony at the time he entered it many years ago. He claimed that he was ejected from the colony and some of the property returned to him.

A defense motion for a continuance until some future date was denied by Judge Sather this morning.
In presenting the motion counsel for the house of David declared the turn in testimony dealing with allegations of immorality found him unprepared.

Preacher Testifies.
Mrs. Emma Loretta of Newark,
N. J., a former preacher of the cult, was today's witness. She testified she entered the colony from Burnham,
Birmingham, Ala., with her mother in 1906, and asserted she was subjected to improper advances by Purnell within two months after her entrance.

"He told me," she testified, "that whatever he did was proper."
"One day," she continued, "he called me into the bath room. Benjamin was in the tub and three other girls were there."

Mrs. Loretta asserted that the basement of Philip Purnell's residence was filled with beer. Benjamin called it "foam" and said it purged his soul, he declared.

He drank it continually. The witness also asserted there was drunk-ness among the girls at Shiloh.

POLICE THEORY IS MODEL WAS THIEF VICTIM

Believe She Was Chloroformed After Thief Had Stolen Jewels

OTHERS EXONERATED

New York, Mar. 20.—The police theory today is that it was a thief who, just as dawn was breaking last Thursday, chloroformed Dorothy M. Keenan, the model, to make a get-away with the jewels and furs he stole from the apartment, where her body was found the following noon.

The thief, in the theory constructed by Police Inspector Coughlin, entered her apartment sometime after the disappearance of the mysterious Mr. John Marshall, the elderly bearer of gifts.

Mr. Marshall, it appeared today, went to the district attorney with the story of his relations with the woman because he sought to exonerate Alfred Gurnaris, a friend of Miss Keenan. Although he did not know and never heard of Gurnaris he said he saw in the papers that the finger of suspicion was being pointed at Gurnaris. He told officials that he himself was with Miss Keenan during the time it was suspected Gurnaris was in her company.

Eugene Oppell, whose marriage to Miss Keenan was annulled, appeared voluntarily yesterday to explain that he had no connection with the murder and was not detained.

FRANCE WILL SHIP COKE

Minister Declares 3,000 Tons a Day Coming Soon

Paris, Mar. 20.—France expects to ship out of the Ruhr from 2,500 to 3,000 tons of coke daily for France, Belgium and Italy, the cabinet was informed today by the Minister of Public Works, L. Trochu, who has just returned from a trip to the occupied region. The minister said it was hoped to increase these shipments each week by at least 1,000 tons daily and thus rapidly reach the German reparations program abandoned when the Ruhr was occupied.

NON-STOP RUN RECORD MADE BY DAKOTAN

This is the story of a non-stop economy run by a Chevrolet from Minot, N. D., to Los Angeles, California. It was staged by the Frasier-White Motor Co. of Minot, and the car was driven by Irving (Speed) Wallace, a professional race driver, who had a relief driver with him. The car was known as No. 13.

The route traveled was from Minot, N. D., through Glendive and Livingston, Montana, to Wallace, Idaho, and thence to the coast and down to the Southern Californian city. Total distance traveled was 3,100 miles, and this was covered in 122 hours without stopping. During this grind of five days and two hours, Wallace claims he slept only two hours.

All the roads were rough and hilly but there were no pictures. And "Speed" says this trip proves to him that the Chevrolet is the best hill climber of any car he has ever driven.

The tough mountain trip of over three thousand miles was made in only two hours more than five days. Over 600 miles a day. The average rate of travel was 254 miles per hour, which means that terrific, death-defying speeds had to be made wherever possible.

In spite of all these unusual conditions, in spite of speed and mountains and rough roads, in spite of the fact that the motor was not stopped for over five days, this Chevrolet consumed only two quarts of gasoline and two quarts of oil. That means 25.8 miles per gallon of gasoline and 1,550 miles per quart of oil.

WOMAN, SAID 126, DIES IN CALIF.

Long, Calif., Mar. 20.—Susi Canner, an Indian woman reputed to be 126 years of age, died in Jackson county valley, according to word received here today. Indian leaders said the woman had often told them of witnessing the first coming of Mexicans to California.

GOVERNMENT SAVINGS BOOK TELLS OF SYSTEM

A very attractive booklet issued by the U. S. Savings System tells what the government is doing to encourage the people to practice economy and thrift. About twelve years ago the Postal Savings System was established, chiefly for the benefit of the foreign-born who would trust their earnings only with the government for safe keeping. During the war the national savings movement grew in importance when war savings stamps and certificates were sold to persons of small means who wanted a safe investment, and who patriotically wished to meet the requests of the government for money to carry on the war. But these savings securities were not adapted to after-war conditions, and a new method to carry on the savings movement was devised. The government savings system was reorganized and treasury savings certificates were issued to take the place of war savings securities. New life was injected into the system and it is now working upon broad lines. It is conducting a campaign of education to teach the people to save; to have them avoid the swindling operations which take hundreds of millions of hard earned money from them; and it is offering for sale a sound, safe and convenient form of investment in denominations within the reach of all, and which are fully explained in the booklet.

CAR REPAIRMAN IS CRUSHED

Fargo, Mar. 20.—Harold J. Haugland, 1541 Third av. N., Fargo, car repairman of the Northern Pacific railway, was killed in front of the Fargo passenger depot yesterday, when his head was crushed between a Pullman car and a day coach.

Mr. Haugland was working over the tall coupling of the day coach. The Pullman car stood about 12 feet away. When a switch engine bumped it to make a coupling it traveled the distance to the day coach and caught Mr. Haugland's head between the platforms of the two cars.

FASCISTI IN U. S. DECLARES N. Y. NEWSPAPER

Reported to Have 20,000 Members on North American Continent

New York, Mar. 20.—A branch of the Fascisti of Italy called the Fascisti of North America was founded in this country two years ago and now has 20,000 members in branches in many of the leading cities of the United States and Canada, the New York Herald says today.

Temporarily the organization in this hemisphere is said to be under the direction of U. Medici, who acts as "political secretary."

Officers of the New York headquarters of the organization are to be elected at a meeting here Saturday night, sequel to one held last Saturday night at which headquarters was dedicated, the paper says.

U. S. STEEL IN SHARP GAINS DURING YEAR

Chairman of Board Says Company Recovered During Past Year

New York, March 21.—Marked improvement in the volume of new business offered and production output during the latter half of last year in the twenty-first annual report of the United States Steel Corporation, covering operations in 1922, which was made public today.

The report shows total earnings, after deducting all expenses incident to operation and maintenance and a reserve for federal income taxes of $109,788,916, an increase of $8,997,638 over 1921. After deducting interest on bonds and mortgages and depreciation of subsidiary companies, net income was revealed as $58,849,891, compared with $55,957,832 the previous year.

The surplus account showed undivided profits on hand December 31, 1922, of $499,139,414, exclusive of profits earned by subsidiary companies on inter-company sales of products on hand in inventories at that date.

Better, Says Gary

Commenting on the report in a statement to stockholders, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board and that the industry in the United States in 1922 showed a substantial recovery from the unusually low volume of 1921, both in respect of new business offered and production output.

"Skin Deep," was shown at the Eltinge yesterday and is the attraction again today and tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday.

Although it is a melodrama packed full of thrills and tense situations the artistry of its presentation saves "Skin Deep" from anything smacking of cheap sensationalism.

The story hangs on the unusual peg of a complete change in the identity of the principal character, a ringleader in a gang of clever crooks in a large city. The transformation is effected by plastic surgery following the injury of the crook in an airplane accident while he is trying to escape from prison.

His wife and another gangster had "gilded" him to prison. The big kick in the picture comes when he returns to his old haunts with his new identity and sits with his wife and her new husband and hears them planning to double-cross him without their suspecting who he is.

How this revelation leads him to "clean up" the old gang and take the straight road furnishes the rest of the theme for this fascinating story.

Rex Ingram, whose $1,000,000 production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" is at the Capitol theater tonight belongs to an artistically creative family. His half-sister is Nina Wilcox Putnam, whose contributions to The Saturday Evening Post have made her well known. Mr. Ingram's production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" was made for Metro. The photoplay is founded on Anthony Hope's novel. Edward Rose dramatized it. Previous Ingram successes on the screen were "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "The Conquering Power" and "Turn to the Right."

PEDESTRIANS IN CHICAGO POOR DODGERS

Chicago, March 21.—Pedestrians are better dodgers in smaller cities than in Chicago, but autoists are more dangerous to themselves when the communities are not so large, judging from reports of motor accidents in Chicago and fourteen mid-western cities during the first 24 days of January.

Chicago has a population of 2,701,705, according to the 1920 census, and the other fourteen cities reporting have a combined population of 4,153,311.

Yet Chicago motorists killed an even forty pedestrians in 24 days, while the auto drivers in the other fourteen cities combined claimed 34 victims.

Approximately a half dozen motorists were killed in automobile accidents in the Chicago territory during that period, however, while in the other cities, where less dense population and in some cases less rigidly enforced speeding laws make for fast going, fourteen motorists met death in accidents.

Reports from cities of virtually the same size indicate that local conditions may have an important bearing on auto fatalities. St. Paul, Minn., did not have a single motorist or pedestrian killed during the 24 days. Louisville, with a population less than 200 larger than St. Paul, according to the 1920 census reported four pedestrians killed.

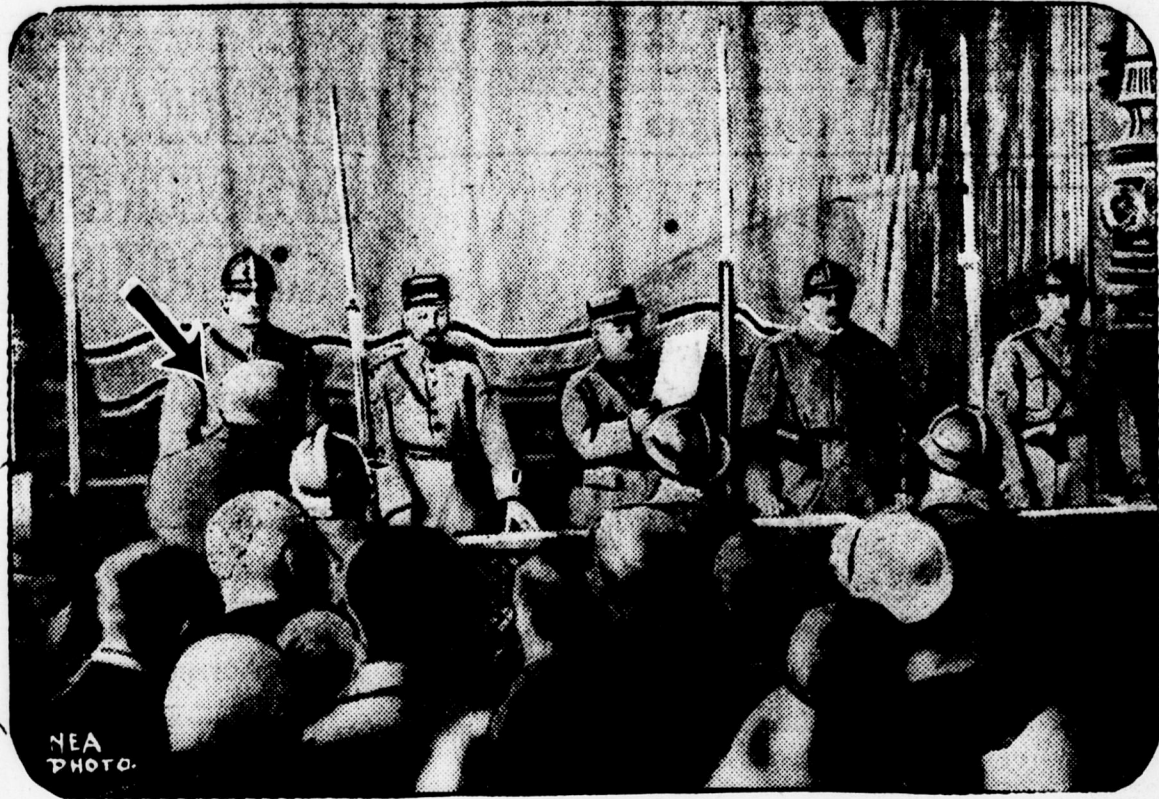

Oklahoma City, among the cities of between 70,000 and 100,000 population, led all the rest with six motorists killed, and also reported the death of one pedestrian. Wichita, Kansas, in the same class, stood second with three motorist killed, but no pedestrians.

St. Louis, in the three-quarter of a million population class, led the fourteen cities in pedestrian killed, reporting nine. Cleveland, in the same class, reported five. Each had one motorist killed.

The reported of the fourteen cities show:

City	Population	Killed
St. Louis	772,897	9
Cleveland	736,841	5
Milwaukee	457,147	4
Louisville	234,801	4
Kansas City	324,410	3
Minneapolis	380,582	3
Columbus	237,031	3
Indianapolis	314,194	1
Oklahoma City	91,297	1
Green Bay	31,017	1
St. Paul	234,698	0
Omaha	191,601	0
Wichita	72,217	0

CUTS WHISKERS AS McCUMBER QUILTS SENATE

La Moure, N. D., March 22.—M. G. Mattson, pioneer down the valley farmer, has shorn off his chin whiskers—and thereby hangs a tale. During the political campaign of six years ago Mr. Mattson solemnly asserted, in the presence of witnesses, that if Porter J. McCumber were elected to the United States senate, he (Mattson) would let his whiskers grow until the said McCumber was retired from office. What happened is history. McCumber was elected in 1916. The years slipped by and Mattson's whiskers grew. Then came the campaign of 1922. McCumber was defeated. On Mar. 4 Mr. McCumber went out of office. On the Monday following Mr. Mattson hurried to La Moure, sought a barber shop and demanded that his whiskers be shaved off slick and clean.

ANTIMASK BILL PASSES HOUSE

Measure Similar to That of N. D. Advanced in Gopher Assembly

St. Paul, March 21.—Representative Myrtle Cain's bill to prohibit the wearing of masks except at entertainments and to prohibit the meeting of masked persons in the open was passed by the house late yesterday, 96 to 2. The measure was commonly called the anti-Ku Klux Klan bill.

The house, on motion of Representative W. J. Darby, chairman of the temperance committee, made a special order for Wednesday morning for the committee's bill providing for more stringent enforcement of the state's prohibition act. The bill, among other things, would make the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller and would authorize arrests on suspicion with privilege of filing complaints later.

May Attend Religious School.

The house passed, 98 to 5, the senate bill providing that children may be excused from school for three hours a week to receive religious instruction.

HOTEL LANDMARK GIVES WAY FOR NEW NICOLLET

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—Pioneers of the '60's from the east and northwest who remember the first hotel that was built across the river from the town of St. Anthony, which is now Minneapolis, in all probability have seen the last of the historic structure. The Nicollet hotel, this city's first hostelry, is to be razed to make way for the new Nicollet, a $3,500,000 building.

Woven into the industrial growth, social welfare and general expansion of Minneapolis, the Nicollet hotel in the early days was the stopping place of leaders in the northwest and the nation. In its now antiquated rooms there have slept Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt. Gen. William T. Sherman and General John A. Logan, as well as a number of other nationally known figures who have since passed away, were listed on the hotel's register.

Built in 1858, The Nicollet prospered after ferry boats and a suspension bridge made St. Anthony accessible to the other side of the Mississippi, and the new town (Minneapolis) arose from the small stores and bridge square next to the river. It was built at an original cost of $30,000 by two Boston men. As the town grew, additions were built until the hotel reached its present size.

Minot to Encourage Holding of Picnics by People of Northwest N. D.

Minot, N. D., Mar. 21.—A definite plan to encourage more general use of the Minot parks by the people of northwestern North Dakota during the coming summer months will be worked out by a committee consisting of Mayor W. M. Smart, G. D. Collier, James S. Malloy, Will O. Donahue, and George R. Jones, appointed at a joint conference of members of the city commission, officers of the Association of Commerce, and members of the park board.

It was tentatively decided to set aside one day each week for the various counties of northwestern North Dakota, and to organize picnic parties from these counties to come to Minot for the day. As well as this, the committee, acting on a suggestion of Dr. Geo. A. McFarland, president of the Normal school, will seek some plan by which school children in schools outside of Minot and within a radius of 30 or 40 miles of the city can come to the parks in classes to study bird, mammal, and plant life. Those at the meeting declared that the parks of Minot are a splendid asset to the educational institutions of the city if properly used, and it will be arranged for Superintendent Doolittle to address each of the various delegations of school children.

Arrangements may also be worked out for classes from Minot schools to visit the park and hear lectures from Superintendent Doolittle.

DISABLED VETS HEAD COMING

Will Come to Bismarck to Deliver Address on March 30

Captain C. Hamilton Cook, National Commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War will be the guest of Bismarck and the Bismarck Chapter of Disabled Veterans, March 30. The officers of the local chapter received a letter today from the National Adjutant informing the local chapter of the intended visit.

In private life Captain Cook is engaged in the business of producing motion pictures and has lately devoted practically his entire time to the problems of the disabled veterans. Captain Cook's credo consists of:

- "I believe in better hospitalization facilities."
- "I believe in more thorough training."
- "I believe every disabled man should have his chance."
- "I believe in thorough, business-like management of the Veterans' Bureau."
- "I believe in the disabled man himself."
- "I believe with all my might in the Disabled American Veterans of the World War."

Plans for entertaining the national commander will be discussed at the meeting of the local chapter Friday night, March 23, in the office of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau.

DILLAGE TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

Estevan, Sask., March 21.—Lee Dillage, of Lignite, N. D., in custody of provincial police was to appear here today for trial on a charge of murdering Paul Matoff, at Bienfait, Sask., in October, 1922.

Matoff, an employee of the Bronfman liquor interests, was making delivery of a $6,000 rum cargo to Dillage at Bienfait station early on Oct.

He was engaged in counting the money which Dillage paid over when a gang of men broke the windows in the station and held him up. In the holdup he received a fatal wound in the back from a snuffed-off shotgun. The back from a sawed off shotgun, the "highjacking" and James LaCote, a motor driver was arrested and charged with the murder.

At the preliminary hearing in November, 1922, at Estevan, LaCote

BONDING CASE IS APPEALED

The Slope county bonding case, in which District Judge Pugh gave the county a judgment of $24,576.61 against the State Bonding Fund and J. S. Douglas, former Slope county treasurer, will be appealed to the supreme court by both parties to the action.

The plaintiff county, in an appeal already filed, holds the district court erred in not holding that the former treasurer had legally deposited funds except previous to March 8, 1921, when a new depository law became effective, and that its full claim for judgment of $93,855.62 should have been allowed.

The suit grew out of deposits of county funds made in two Amidon banks which closed, the deposits being made after the passage of an initiated law permitting counties to withdraw money from the Bank of North Dakota and previous to the enactment of a depository law. The judgment on funds deposited after the depository law became effective, the defendant State Bonding Fund,

NEW SALEM CIRCUIT ONE BIG FAMILY

Dairy Organization Also Proves to be "Matrimonial Agency"

Fargo, N. D., Mar. 21.—The New Salem dairy circuit has become a matrimonial agency in addition to its function as a successful dairymaking project. J. H. Shepperd, head of the N. D. A. C. animal husbandry department, said in addressing the Commons Club at the Commercial club.

When the circuit was first organized there were 15 men in it and only three pairs of them—two sets of brothers and a father and son-in-law—were related. Inter-marriage has brought about a net of relationships which includes all but two of the 17 present members of the circuit, Mr. Shepperd said.

One new phase of the activities of the circuit which the speaker brought out, was the growing scope of the cooperative function.

Ten milking machines were brought co-operatively, he said, and also 10 silos. These latter were bought in knocked down condition in Wisconsin. The foundations were put in under the terms of one contract.

Mr. Shepperd also mentioned the cooperative ownership of purebred bulls.

To show how well the New Salem breeders had adapted the cattle to North Dakota conditions the speaker cited the case of some New Salem cows, when transferred to Oregon, shunned the shade of a forest and would not graze in the tall grass under the trees, but stayed in the open where the grass was dry and sparse. This was because they had been developed into a hard breed, accustomed to the hot summers of the slope country.

ASHLEY ORGANIZES JUVENILE BAND; GIVES PROGRAM

Will Assist in Organization of Kenmare Guard

Kenmare, N. D., March 21.—Captain H. P. Thompson, assistant instructor of the 164th infantry, North Dakota national guard is expected to arrive in Kenmare to assist in the organization of the third battalion headquarters company which has been allotted to this city. The officer will make a survey of the city and report to the adjutant generally office the feasibility of locating the company here permanently.

Kenmare residents apparently are backing the proposition solidly, and are anxious to maintain the battalion headquarters here. It will mean an annual income of about $6,500 for the members of the organization.

A battalion headquarters company is a small unit of 41 men selected by and for qualification for work as an intelligence section of the guard. The company is completely equipped and trained by the federal government for intelligence work and signal opportunities are provided today a complete radio outfit and each man will receive individual instructions as to its theory and practical operation. Also a complete course of instruction will be given in telegraph wireless and other approved methods of army signal work.

Have Pains?

Aches and pains seem to be the lot of the ordinary mortal. However, these should be taken simply as nature's warning signals that some part of the human machine is out of order. It is a mistake to resign one's self to physical torture when the cause can be removed.

Foley Kidney Pills

tone up weak, inactive, sluggish kidneys and help rid the blood of poisons—waste matter that causes aches and pains in arms and legs, backache, rheumatic pains, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints.

Isaac B. Tarman, Ashbury Park, N. J., writes: "My back caused me a great deal of trouble for some time. I experienced sharp, shooting pains which were due to the condition of my kidneys. One bottle of Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me. The pains left my back. I recommend Foley Kidney Pills to my friends."

MOUTH ORAN AS CLEW. Portsmouth, England, March 21.—Police are depending on a mouth-oran to solve the murder of Mary Pelham, 26, flower-seller. Police believe the instrument was given to her by a sailor who afterward slew her in her apartment.

D., Mar. 21.—A definite plan to encourage more general use of the Minot parks by the people of northwestern North Dakota during the coming summer months will be worked out by a committee consisting of Mayor W. M. Smart, G. D. Colford, James S. Milloy, Will O. Doolittle, and George R. Jones, appointed at a joint conference of members of the city commission, officers of the Association of Commerce, and members of the park board.

It was tentatively decided to set aside one day each week for the various counties of northwestern North Dakota, and to organize picnic parties from those counties to come to Minot for the day. As well as this, the committee, acting on a suggestion of Dr. Geo. A. McFarland, president of the Normal school, will seek some plan by which school children in schools outside of Minot and within a radius of 30 or 40 miles of the city can come to the parks in classes to study bird, animal, and plant life. Those at the meeting declared that the parks of Minot are a splendid asset to the educational institutions of the city if properly used, and it will be arranged for Superintendent Doolittle to address each of the various delegations of school children. Arrangements may also be worked out for classes from Minot schools to visit the park and hear lectures from Superintendent Doolittle.

DISABLED VETS HEAD COMING

Will Come to Bismarck to Deliver Address on March 30

Captain C. Hamilton Cook, National Commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War will be the guest of Bismarck and the Bismarck Chapter of Disabled Veterans, March 30. The officers of the local chapter received a letter today from the National Adjutant informing the mot Captain Cook's intended visit.

In private life Captain Cook is engaged in the business of producing motion pictures but has lately devoted practically his entire time to the problems of the disabled veterans. Captain Cook's credo consists of:

"I believe in better hospitalization facilities."
"I believe in more thorough training."
"I believe every disabled man should have his chance."
"I believe in thorough, business-like management of the Veterans' Bureau."
"I believe in the disabled man himself."

"I believe with all my might in the Disabled American Veterans of the World War."
Plans for entertaining the national commander will be discussed at the meeting of the local chapter Friday night, March 23, in the offices of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau.

DILLAGE TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

Estevan, Sask., March 21.—Leo Dillage, of Lignite, N. D., in custody of provincial police was to appear here today for trial on a charge of murdering Paul Matoff, at Bismarck, Sask., in October, 1922.

Matoff, an employee of the Bronfman liquor interests, was making delivery of a $6,000 rum cargo to Dillage at Bismarck station early on Oct.

He was engaged in counting the money which Dillage paid over when a gang of men broke the windows in the station and held him up. In the holdup he received a fatal wound in the back from a sawed off shotgun, the back from a sawed off shotgun, the back from a sawed off shotgun, the back from a sawed off shotgun.

At the preliminary hearing in November, 1922, at Estevan, LaCote

Divorced From Gould, Keeps Children

When the marital difficulties of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Jr. were solved in a Nice, France, divorce court, custody of the two children was awarded to the mother. Mrs. Gould, formerly Laura Carter of Boston, eloped with young Gould in 1917. Above is Mrs. Gould with her two children, George J. Gould 3rd (left) and Maughn Carter Gould.

A THRILL FOR THE SMART SET

BONDING CASE IS APPEALED

The Slope county bonding case, in which District Judge Pugh gave the county a judgment of $24,576.51 against the State Bonding Fund and J. S. Douglas, former Slope county treasurer, will be appealed to the supreme court by both parties to the action.

The plaintiff county, in an appeal already filed, holds the district court erred in not holding that the former treasurer had legally deposited funds except previous to March 8, 1921, when a new depository law became effective, and that its full claim for judgment of $93,855.02 should have been allowed.

The suit grew out of deposits of county funds made in two Amidon banks which closed, the deposits being made after the passage of an initiated law permitting counties to withdraw money from the Bank of North Dakota and previous to the enactment of a depository law. The judgment on funds deposited after the depository law became effective. The defendant State Bonding Fund, through Charles Simon, assistant attorney general, will file a cross appeal, taking the position that Douglas, when he retired as treasurer, made a settlement which was accepted by the county commissioners, fiscal agents for the county.

The State Bonding Fund had bonded Douglas for $50,000, the full amount of which the plaintiff seeks.

TO ASSURE CORRECT ICE WEIGHT

Cleveland, O., March 21.—Machines installed at the stations operated by a local ice company will score each block of ice so deeply that it cannot be cut or broken at any other places than at the slots.

The purpose of the scoring, the company announces, is to make sure that each purchaser receives accurate weights. Guesswork is eliminated. The 100 pound or larger blocks will be so cut that they will break up into 25 pound pieces. A melting factor of 8 per cent will be allowed, estimated to be 2 per cent above the melt on the warmest days.

NEW SALEM CIRCUIT ONE BIG FAMILY

Dairy Organization Also Proves to be "Matrimonial Agency"

Fargo, N. D., Mar. 21.—The New Salem dairy circuit has become a matrimonial agency in addition to its function as a successful dairying project. J. H. Shepherd, head of the N. D. A. C. animal husbandry department, said in addressing the Commons club at the Commercial club.

When the circuit was first organized there were 45 men in it and only three pairs of them—two sets of brothers and a father and son-in-law—were related. Inter-marriage has brought about a net of relationships which includes all but two of the 17 present members of the circuit, Mr. Shepherd said.

One new phase of the activities of the circuit which the speaker brought out, was the growing scope of the co-operative function.

Ten milking machines were brought co-operatively, he said, and also 10 silos. These latter were bought in knocked down condition in Wisconsin. The foundations were put in under the terms of one contract.

Mr. Shepherd also mentioned the co-operative ownership of purebred bulls.

To show how well the New Salem breeders had adapted the cattle to North Dakota conditions the speaker cited the case of some New Salem cows, when translocated to Oregon, shunned the shade of a forest and would not graze in the tall grass under the trees, but stayed in the open where the grass was dry and sparse. This was because they had been developed into a hard breed, accustomed to the hot summers of the slope country.

ASHLEY ORGANIZES JUVENILE BAND; GIVES PROGRAM

Ashley, N. D., Mar. 21.—The Ashley Juvenile band of Ashley, N. D., an organization of boys ranging in age from 8 to 18 years, under the leadership and instruction of John P. McKay, eminent band organizer and instructor, have just completed a very successful seventeen months of study.

Three of the grade teachers, Miss Mada Krueger of Winesburg, N. D.; Miss Priscilla La Jun, of Hankinson, and Miss Tollefson of Grand Forks, N. D., joined the band soon after the beginning of the school term.

The following program was given by the band at the Ashley opera house Friday evening, March 16 and was highly appreciated by the many music lovers of the community.

- PROGRAM

FASHION'S PRINCE

Here is shown the Prince of Wales wearing a new style bat-tie and wing collar which is to be all the rage for male Easter outfits. The wide-winged collar and the "butterfly bow" have been given the seal of approval by England's glass of fashion and mold of form.

J. F. McKay, Piano Accep.—Mrs. Theo. Heinrich, 17. Light Brigade, March, (Paul de Velle)

Final, "Home, Sweet Home." These boys were all beginners in music when the band was organized seventeen months ago and thru the untiring efforts of their capable leader and co-operation of the members they have an organization hard to beat in the state.

The "upkeep" of the band, as well as directors salary, is kept up entirely by the parents of the members.

Will Assist in Organization of Kenmare Guard

Kenmare, N. D., March 21.—Captain H. P. Thompson, assistant instructor of the 164th infantry, North Dakota national guard is expected to arrive in Kenmare to assist in the organization of the third battalion headquarters company which has been allotted to this city. The officer will make a survey of the city and report to the adjutant general's office the feasibility of locating the company here permanently.

Kenmare residents apparently are backing the proposition solidly, and are anxious to maintain the battalion headquarters here. It will mean an annual income of about $6,500 for the members of the organization.

A battalion headquarters company is a small unit of 41 men selected by and for qualification for work as an intelligence section of the guard. The company is completely equipped and trained by the federal government for intelligence work and signal opportunities are provided today a complete radio outfit and each man will receive individual instructions as to its theory and practical operation. Also a complete course of instruction will be given in telegraph wireless and other approved methods of army signal work.

FIND ROMAN RELICS.

Chinmor, England, March 21.—A vase, a silver plate and several articles of jewelry, supposedly dating from the period of Roman occupancy of Britain, have been found on the estate of Major William Gordon Ross here.

CARRINGTON BANK CLOSED. Carrington, N. D., Mar. 21.—The Commercial State Bank of Carrington is closed temporarily, the closing said to be due to low reserve. The bank had $20,000 capital stock and $180,000 deposits.

Have Pains?

Aches and pains seem to be the lot of the ordinary mortal. However, these should be taken simply as nature's warning signals that some part of the human machine is out of order. It is a mistake to resign one's self to physical torture when the cause can be removed.

Foley Kidney Pills

tone up weak, inactive, sluggish kidneys and help rid the blood of poisonous waste matter that causes aches and pains in arms and legs, backache, rheumatic pains, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints.

Isaac B. Turman, Asbury Park, N. J., writes: "My back caused me a great deal of trouble for some time. I experienced sharp, shooting pains which were due to the condition of my kidneys. One bottle of Foley Kidney Pills completely eliminated the pains. I can now lead a normal life. I recommend Foley Kidney Pills to my friends."

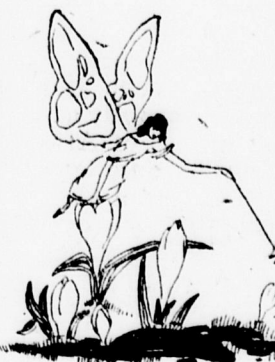

MOUTH ORAN AS CLEW. Portsmouth, England, March 21.—Police are depending on a mouth or gan to solve the murder of Mary Pelham, 26, flower-seller. Police believe the instrument was given to her by a sailor who afterward slew her in her apartment.

U. S. STEEL IN SHARP GAINS DURING YEAR

Chairman of Board Says Company Recovered During Past Year

New York, March 21.—Market paymaster in the shape of new business offered and production output during the latter half of last year in the twenty-first annual report of the United States Steel Corporation, covering operations in 1922, which was made public today.

The report shows total earnings, after deducting all expenses incident to operation and maintenance and a reserve for federal income taxes of $109,788,516, an increase of $8,997,638 over 1921. After deducting interest on bonds and mortgages and depreciation of subsidiary companies, net income was revealed as $58,840,891, compared with $55,957,852 the previous year.

The surplus account showed undivided profits on hand December 31, 1922, of $499,139,414, exclusive of profits earned by subsidiary companies on inter-company sales of products on hand in inventories at that date.

Better, Says Gary
Commenting on the report in a statement to stockholders, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board, said that the industry in the United States in 1922 showed a substantial recovery from the unusually low volume of 1921, both in respect of new business offered and production output.

"Skin Deep," was shown at the Eltinge yesterday and is the attraction again today and tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday.

Although it is a melodrama packed full of thrills and tense situations, the artistry of its presentation saves "Skin Deep" from anything smacking of cheap sensationalism.

The story hangs on the unusual plot of a complete change in the identity of the principal character, a single actor in a gang of clever crooks in a large city. The transformation is effected by plastic surgery following the injury of the crook in an airplane accident while he is trying to escape from prison.

His wife and another gangster had "jailed" him to prison. The big kick in the picture comes when he returns to his old haunts with his new identity and sits with his wife and her new husband and hears them planning to double-cross him without their suspecting who he is.

How this revelation leads him to "clean up" the old gang and take the straight road furnishes the rest of the theme for this fascinating story.

CAPITOL
Rex Ingram, whose $1,000,000 production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" is at the Capitol theater tonight, belongs to an artistically creative family. His half-sister is Nina Wilcox Putnam, whose contributions to The Saturday Evening Post have made her well known. Mr. Ingram's production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" was made for Metro. The play was founded on Anthony Hope's novel. Edward Rose dramatized it. Previous Ingram successes on the screen were "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "The Conquering Power" and "Turn to the Right."

PEDESTRIANS IN CHICAGO POOR DODGERS

Chicago, March 21.—Pedestrians are better dodgers in smaller cities than in Chicago, but motorists are more dangerous to themselves when the communities are not so large, judging from reports of motor accidents in Chicago and fourteen midwestern cities during the first 24 days of January.

Chicago has a population of 2,701,705, according to the 1920 census, and the other fourteen cities reporting have a combined population of 4,153,311.

Yet Chicago motorists killed an even forty pedestrians in 24 days, while the auto drivers in the other fourteen cities combined claimed 34 victims.

Approximately a half dozen motorists were killed in automobile accidents in the Chicago territory during that period, however, while in the other cities, where less dense population and in some cases less rigidly enforced speeding laws make for fast going, fourteen motorists met death in accidents.

Reports from cities of virtually the same size indicate that local conditions may have an important bearing on auto fatalities. St. Paul, Minn., did not have a single motorist or pedestrian killed during the 24 days. Louisville, with a population less than 200 larger than St. Paul, according to the 1920 census reported four pedestrians killed.

Oklahoma City, among the cities of between 70,000 and 100,000 population, led all the rest with six motorists killed, and also reported the death of one pedestrian. Wichita, Kansas, in the same class, stood second with three motorists killed, but no pedestrians.

St. Louis, in the three-quarter of a million population class, led the fourteen cities in pedestrian killed, reporting nine. Cleveland, in the same class, reported five. Each had one motorist killed.

The reported of the fourteen cities show:

City	Population	Killed
St. Louis	772,897	9
Cleveland	796,841	5
Milwaukee	467,147	4
Louisville	234,891	4
Kansas City	324,410	3

ANTIMASK BILL PASSES HOUSE

Measure Similar to That of N. D. Advanced in Gopher Assembly

St. Paul, March 21.—Representative Myrtle Can's bill to prohibit the wearing of masks, except at entertainments and to prohibit the meeting of masked persons in the open was passed by the house late yesterday, 96 to 2. The measure was commonly called the anti-Ku Klux Klan bill.

The house, on motion of Representative J. Darby, chairman of the temperance committee, passed a special order for Wednesday morning of the committee's bill providing for more stringent enforcement of the state's prohibition act. The bill, among other things, would make the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller and would authorize arrests on suspicion with privilege of filing complaints later.

May Attend Religious School.
The house passed, 98 to 5, the senate bill providing that children may be excused from school for three hours a week to receive religious instruction.

HOTEL LANDMARK GIVES WAY FOR NEW NICOLLET

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—Pioneers of the '90s from the east and northwest who remember the first hotel that was built across the river from the town of St. Anthony, which is now Minneapolis, in all probability have seen the last of the historic structure. The Nicolet hotel, this city's first hostelry, is to be razed to make way for the new Nicolet, a $3,500,000 building. Woven into the industrial growth, social welfare and general expansion of Minneapolis, the Nicolet hotel in the early days was the stopping place of leaders in the northwest and the nation. In its now antiquated rooms there have slept Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt, General William T. Sherman and General John A. Logan, as well as a number of other nationally known figures who have since passed away, were listed on the hotel's register.

Built in 1858, The Nicolet prospered after ferry boats and a suspension bridge made St. Anthony accessible to the farther side of the Mississippi, and the new town (Minneapolis) arose from the small stores and bridge square next to the river. It was built at an original cost of $30,000 by two Boston men. As the town grew, additions were built until the hotel reached its present size.

NEAT FUND NETTED.
The benefit basketball game played at the high school last night netted $84 for the fund from which expenses of the high school representatives in the declamatory and musical contest at Jamestown will be paid. CUTS WHISKERS AS McCUMBER QUILTS SENATE

Lu Moore, N. D., March 22. M. G. Mattson, pioneer down the valley farmer, has shorn off his chin whiskers and thereby hangs a tale. During the political campaign of six years ago Mr. Mattson solemnly asserted, in the presence of witnesses, that if Porter J. McCumber were re-elected to the United States senate, he (Mattson) would let his whiskers grow until the said McCumber was retired from office. What happened is history. McCumber was elected in 1916. The years slipped by and Mattson's whiskers grew. Then came the campaign of 1922. McCumber was defeated. On Mar. 1 Mr. McCumber went out of office. On the Monday following Mr. Mattson hurried to Mr. Moore, sought a barber shop and demanded that his whiskers be shaved off slick and clean.

Now a Quick Quaker Oats
Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Secret Of quick-cooking oats

Now there's a Quick Quaker Oats, Mrs. Housewife. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes, and cooks as well as an hour would cook it.

Ask your grocer for Quick Quaker if you want this style.

Thin flakes, partly cooked

The difference is this: In Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

That same super-flavor

All Quaker Oats are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavorful oats. All the flavorless grains are discarded. So we get but ten pounds of these cream oats from a bushel.

That's why Quaker Oats dominates. Millions of mothers, all the world over, insist on this extra flavor, so their children will love oats.

That flavor is in Quick Quaker the same as in regular Quaker. So you always get it in the style you like best.

Regular Quaker Oats

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

AGAIN A CANDIDATE

That President Harding would be put forward as a candidate for a second term for President was generally accepted as a fact by the people without the assurance of Attorney-General Daugherty and others. It also is quite probable that nothing but a country-wide revulsion, and a conviction by the leaders of the Republican party that the President could not be reelected, would prevent his renomination. The President has a natural advantage in a campaign for renomination. Holding the President more responsible for an administration than Congress, as the country does, he represents in effect the party. And if he is not renominated it is regarded by the public, although it should not be, as a failure of the party's four years of rule. The vast appointing power and commanding position of any President also is difficult to overcome.

Perhaps Mr. Harding may also be strong in the weakness of his opposition. With Herbert Hoover in his cabinet and bound by loyalty to him, with General Wood engaged in a task in the Philippines which appears to be to his liking, and there are not many commanding figures among the opposition at this period. Senator Borah is charged with inconsistency in his attitude on foreign affairs, Senator Johnson's position as a "progressive" has been assailed within his own ranks, La Follette is old and beyond the pale in a few states, former Senator A. J. Beveridge was defeated for Senator in Indiana and retired from politics—all these are pointed to by various spokesmen throughout the country as weaknesses in the opposition.

Withal the health of the Harding boom lies in the future, particularly in the next session of Congress. With a radical bloc said to number forty or more in the house of representatives and a bloc in the senate which may hold the balance of power in some matters, the next session of Congress, at which North Dakota will be represented in the Senate by Senators Ladd and Frazier, may have a marked influence upon the nomination for President in 1924.

SWEET GRAFT

A sugar famine this year? Not unless housewives stampede and create a shortage by stocking up with a hundred or so pounds for each family. Remember, that's what started the sugar shortage several years ago and shot the price up around 30 cents a pound.

Cuba this year will produce about 197,000 tons more sugar than last year, according to the leading sugar trade authority, Guma-Mejer. The European beet sugar crop will total nearly 400,000 tons more than in the 1921-22 season. In America we started 1923 with "wartime size" stocks of sugar in storage—official government report. Much depends, of course, on the size of the 1923 American crop.

But Cuban sugar, is the main regulator of what we pay for sugar. And the supply of Cuban sugar for this year "appears to be practically the same as was available in 1921," says the market letter which the American Sugar Refining Co. sends to its customers.

In 1921, five to eight cents a pound was considered a good wholesale price for refined sugar here in the United States.

It's hard to get at the truth about the sugar situation, for it's an industry of highly complicated statistics. Let's take a bit of unfavorable news and analyze it:

The American Sugar Refining Co. estimates that the surplus stocks of Cuban sugar around the first of the year 1923 were 1,129,000 tons less than a year before.

Half of this decrease is counteracted by the 1922-23 gain in Cuban and European sugar production.

And it's reasonable to expect that most of the balance will be cancelled by the fact that Americans this coming summer will make less home-made wine than last summer and the one before. The enormous increase in the amount of sugar used by Americans, during the last few years, has been due mainly to home-made wines. Fifty pounds of sugar doesn't look like much to a cellar chemist. Wine making is on the wane "too much trouble, not worth the fuss."

We dig into the newspaper files and in 1920 find Edgar Watkins, counsel for the Southern Grocers' Association, quoted as saying: "Refinery prices for sugar the first four months of this year ranged from 14 to 18 cents a pound, while most brokers quoted them at 27 and 30 cents a pound."

As you'll recall, sugar led all other commodities when it came to speculation and exorbitant prices. During the sugar "famine," the law of supply and demand was temporarily repealed. The surest, quickest way to play into speculators' hands is to buy a lot of sugar and store it in the attic.

ELECTRIC

One out of every four tons of coal mined in America is consumed by the railroads.

Obviously, the first logical step to end coal shortages would be to electrify the roads. This would save coal. Also it would release thousands of cars now tied up hauling coal to points where it is stored until locomotives take it aboard.

On the other hand, the "transportation problem" may be merely the waning of railroads that run on tracks. We may be on the verge of freight and passenger traffic in the air. Stage coach system became inadequate just before steam railroads arrived.

SPECTACULAR

An airplane manned by Lawrence B. Sperry takes aboard a fresh supply of fuel, without stopping, while flying 65 miles an hour. It reminds you of the express train picking up mail bags as it roars through small towns.

Items like this reveal that the development of the airplane is going ahead swiftly. Sperry's plane weighs less than 800 pounds. Compare that with your auto. The flying glivver—cheap, safe—will come.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

GOOD PROSPECTS

With the new Yellowstone Trail route south of the railroad tracks, shortening the route from here to Thame by about eight miles practically an assured fact; with a new and improved road across the gulches to Camp Crook and a new road to the "oil" works in the making with every probability that our big, modern high school building will be completed this year; and with fine prospects for a splendid crop year, Marmarth has a wonderful prospectus before her regardless of the oil possibilities. Add to the above the fact that this great Marmarth "oil" field which has been favorably passed upon by many of the nation's foremost geological students is on the threshold of development, and you have a future that promises to gladden the hearts of the most conservative. Marmarth (S. D.) Mail.

A BOLSHIEVIST HAMLET

The soviet commissariat of education goes Ben Johnson one better in holding that Shakespeare was not only "not for an age, but for all time," but that he is for all nations under every form of government. A commonplace of Shakespearean criticism maintains that the immortal Bard's greatest drama, "Hamlet," is contemporary to all a story, no matter how their philosophy and social ideal may change. This opinion might be cited to justify the bolshie-vist adoption of the Prince of Denmark as a medium for propaganda.

Rewriting a considerable portion of the text will be considered a profanation in our day, though it was common enough in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Not even the elder Shakspeare, when he recast "Romeo and Juliet," to bring about a happy ending, with the young lovers married and settled, went so far as the soviet commissariat in directing that Polonius shall be made up as Lloyd George and spout the speeches of the former, British prime minister regarding Russia.

The Prince of Denmark is to be transformed into a thoughtful and valiant young communist champion fighting the despised bourgeoisie and wicked capitalism, while "To be or not to be" and other soliloquies will give way to soul searching interpretations of Marxian socialism. Philadelphia Bulletin.

RUSSIAN YOUTH
ACTIVE ATHEISTS

Moscow, Mar. 21.—Christmas day on the Russian calendar, January 7, the day on which this year the young communists all over Russia staged grotesque anti-religious demonstrations, is to be entered on the official records as a permanent holiday under the name of "The Day of the Depositing of the Gods." In addition to the great procession of communist students in Moscow on January 7, reports from the provinces indicate that in virtually every city and village of Russia these atheist youths held mock celebrations in the churches.

The government, which in some ways oppressed the churches from the very beginning of the bolshie-vist revolution did not, however, take any steps to close churches until this year. In Moscow several of the smaller street chapels before which the faithful were accustomed to bow and cross themselves for many centuries are now to be closed, it is announced. Workmen at the tower of Brinsank and the local clergyman, and the official press, particularly the smaller papers, intended for the workmen now contain daily attacks on religion in general. One of them has inaugurated a campaign against baptism.

Most of the young communists, who are directing the anti-religious campaign declare they are sincere atheists even though most of them have as parents peasants who cross themselves before every shrine, and who even now consider their children as anti-christ, surely bound for hell and damnation.

An amusing story is told in Moscow of one of these youths who, to absolve himself of the sins of having scoffed at God during the celebration went to church the next day, confessed his sin, and accepted a heavy penance.

THE SPOIL-SPORT

Vendetta begins between Michael Sayers, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers, beautiful home maid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead the officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. When Sir Norman is living at his country house the police ask him to help capture a criminal whom they believe to be at the head of a dangerous gang. On his way to London, Greyes' car is stopped and he is shot through the shoulder. Greyes asks Janet to dine with him. Janet accepts. Acting upon Michael's command Janet puts a maid fight to death before she regains her act and purposely upsets the cup. Sayers tells this episode:

"I was at St. Pancras Station to meet Gorty and Metzger on their arrival in England. I saw the seven black tin boxes with the hundred thousand pounds in gold, with which they hope to establish a few private credits in this country. On the other hand, the country to which they belong owes us something like a hundred times that amount. They have a somewhat natural fear that any bank with whom they might deposit their treasure might be disposed to hand it over to the government, or that the government, by some legal means, might attach it."

"Therefore," I observed, "it remains in their rooms?"

"Precisely! They consider it the lesser risk."

"And Gorty goes to Manchester tonight?"

"That is so," the lawyer murmured.

"So far all seems well," I said. The great thing is that the gold has not been removed and that Metzger will be alone. There were other little details."

"I have had no arrangement with any bank yet."

"They have made no arrangement with any bank yet?"

"They are both, under the circumstances, suspicious," he said. "Their position, of course, is—peculiar. They are custodians of a hundred thousand pounds in gold, with which they hope to establish a few private credits in this country. On the other hand, the country to which they belong owes us something like a hundred times that amount. They have a somewhat natural fear that any bank with whom they might deposit their treasure might be disposed to hand it over to the government, or that the government, by some legal means, might attach it."

They have a somewhat natural fear that any bank with whom they might deposit their treasure might be disposed to hand it over to the government, or that the government, by some legal means, might attach it."

"Just so," Mr. Younghusband asserted, leaning back in his chair with his finger-tips pressed together. "So far as regards the setting of the affair, I think you will find it in order. Metzger and Gorty occupy Suite 89 at the Milan Hotel, which suite consists, as you know, of two bedrooms, a bathroom and a sitting-room. The sitting-room is on the extreme right-hand side of the suite, and the gold is kept in Metzger's bedroom, which opens from the sitting-room. The bathroom is between the two bedrooms."

"I have had the plan," I interrupted a little impatiently.

Mr. Younghusband declined to be hurried. He had the air of giving difficult legal advice on a technical point.

"Suite 90," he continued, "consists of a bedroom, bathroom and sitting-room only, and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, very rich South Americans. They are leaving tonight by motorcar for Southampton to catch the steamer there for Buenos Aires in the morning."

"Their luggage is already packed," I asked.

"Already packed," Mr. Younghusband agreed. "The porters have commented upon its weight."

"And Madam?"

"Appears to have fulfilled her task," was the somewhat hesitating answer.

I detected signs of uneasiness in my companion's speech, and I questioned him about it promptly.

"Have you doubts of the woman," I asked.

"None whatever," Mr. Younghusband assured me blandly. "At the same time, she is without doubt, the weakest link in the chain. She has temperament enough—Metzger seems to have been an easy victim; but I should have had more confidence in the lady who visited me the other day."

"I can no longer put complete faith in my wife," I replied coldly. Mr. Younghusband was startled out of his dignified serenity of manner. He leaned across the table.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

"What do you mean by that?" he demanded harshly. "Do you know that she has been here, the one place in London you should have been careful to keep her away from, if you had any doubts?"

"I have no doubts whatever as to her fidelity," I declared. "You know what I mean when I say that, in the parlance of our friends, she has gone soft. It is a pity."

Mr. Younghusband seemed relieved but puzzled.

"A woman who could do what she did on the golf-links at Woking," he murmured reminiscently, "must have charged very much if she merits your present criticism."

The subject was by no means a pleasant one to me. I abandoned it.

"In any case," I reminded him, "she is in touch with Greyes, and he knows too much."

"Wonderful capacity for existence, that man," Mr. Younghusband remarked suavely.

"It occurs to me that you would be well advised," my companion acquiesced. "The person in question possesses the one gift which might make him dangerous to us. He has imagination."

I nodded. I was tracing figures upon the blotting-paper, debating with myself different methods of dealing with Norman Greyes.

"Every channel which might lead to the firm of Younghusband, Nicholson and Younghusband," the lawyer continued meditatively, "seems so far as human ingenuity could arrange it, permanently blocked, but a man with imagination who is not afraid to work on guesswork is always to be feared."

"It will not be my fault," I promised, as I took my leave, "if you have any cause to fear Norman Greyes after the next month or so."

That night, in the language of those forgotten war communiques, everything happened according to plan. At a quarter to nine Metzger, who was writing alone in his sitting-room, heard a soft knocking at the door which communicated with the adjoining suite. He rose promptly, unlocked the outside door of his own rooms, and softly withdrew the bolt of the door to the next suite. He stood there with an inviting smile upon his ugly face. Madame de Miquel laid a cautioning finger upon her onewhich overprinted lips as she stole over the threshold.

"There is one hour that my husband will be away," she whispered, gliding past him. "You may kiss me."

Adventure of the Twins

By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy and Nick met a green-sugar pig in Sugar-Plum Land. "Hello!" cried Nick.

"Hello!" grunted the pig. "The top of the mornin' to you both."

"Thank you," said Nancy. "But why is the top better than the bottom?"

"Sure an' don't ye be askin' me," replied the pig, straightening his green silk necktie and tapping his nice green silk stove-pipe hat. "Only the best of a milk bottle comes to the top, doesn't it, and so I suppose the best of the mornin' does, too. Where are you going?"

"We are on our way to the house of the Cut-Out lady," explained Nancy. "She does mending for the Gingerbread Man and sews all his buttons on crooked every time his knick-knack dog bites her cocoon out. She gets so cross she can't see out of her one eye, and that's why she sews the buttons on wrong."

"Beggars, what of that?" asked Pat Green-Sugar Pig, good naturedly. "I wear no clothes at all, at all, and sure if I did I wouldn't mind a crooked button on my eye."

"But don't you see?" explained Nancy. "When the buttons are on crooked they won't go into the button holes and the Gingerbread Man gets upset. As he is boss of Sugar-Plum Land, it upsets everybody else, too, because he makes silly laws."

"That's too bad!" said Pat Green-Sugar Pig. "But don't let's worry. I'll tell you a secret. If you pull hard, my head comes off and down inside of me you'll find some cinnamon drops. But be sure to put my head on again or I'll be no ornament to the community."

"Oh, we will, we will!" promised Nancy. So the pig's head was taken off and very shortly put on again.

"Thank you," said the Twins. "The drops are delicious."

"Now I'll be going," said Pat. "Give my love to the Gingerbread Man and tell him not to worry about trifles like buttons."

Social and Personal

Many Attend Eastern Star Meeting

More than 100 were present at the initiation services held at the Masonic temple last evening when Mrs. Blanche Whittemore, worthy grand matron, was present. After the business session a social time was enjoyed and refreshments served.

A very pleasant part of the evening's entertainment consisted of musical selections. Numbers given were:

Vocal solo—Mrs. Richard Tracy with Mrs. A. J. Arnot as accompanist.

Ladies quartette—Meses. W. J. Targum, John Larson, A. J. Arnot, and Miss Elizabeth Jones. Mrs. Tracy played the accompaniment.

Piano duet—Meses Emma Taurert and Ruth Rawley.

Peppy Songs Feature of B. & P. W. Dinner

Covers were laid for forty members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club at the get-together dinner at the McKenzie hotel last evening. The feature of the evening was the singing of "peppy" group songs between the courses with the McKenzie Orchestra playing the accompaniments. The dinner closed with the singing of America. Mrs. Blanche Whittemore of Bowman, worthy grand matron of the Eastern Star, was an out of town guest at the dinner. Miss H. Beach related the plan of the B. & P. W. club the movement to present "The Marionettes" for the purpose of raising funds to carry on juvenile work among the girls of the city similar to that which is being done among the boys, under the auspices of the Rotary club with J. J. McLaughlin as director.

Young People Give Program

The Young Peoples Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church have prepared a very interesting program to be given at the church tomorrow evening. Numbers on the program include the following:

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to re-establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT'S WHAT IT IS! NO OTHER FOOD CAN!

Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract.

Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation.

Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked, for it at your restaurant!

Kellogg's Bran is nationally eaten for health's sake as a cereal—in winter time with hot milk. Others prefer it sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. Another way is to mix it with hot cereals just before serving. It can also be cooked with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran for each person; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is sold by all grocers and is supplied in individual packages at first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant!

Spring's Most Fascinating Modes

"A rainbow colored Spring with no dark secrets" is the fascinating message flashed upon the screen for 1923 spring time modes. And if colors are scintillant with life and gayety, designs are no less buoyant. As expressed in this lovely initial presentation. Youth is the joyous theme which weaves its golden thread thruout all the story of fashions for Spring.

NIGHT WIRE FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE HAMILTON.

Am getting away sooner than I expected; will be with you tomorrow morning. Have been wondering all the week just how much you love me. Of course I know that I love you enough to forgive you everything and anything, but do you love me enough to do this for the love who will soon be with you? Starting for the train this minute. Soon the rails will be saying—the miles are shortening between you, the miles are shortening between you.

Telephone Conversation Between Sydney Carton and John Alden Prescott.

"Yes, this is John Prescott speaking."

"John, this is Syd. I couldn't get here before."

"Where are you telephoning from?"

"The East Side station."

"It's too bad you are not at the central station, Syd, as I am leaving the house this minute to catch a train for Sharon."

"But John, I've got to see you before I can do that errand for you."

"Oh, tell Paula anything you want to, but above all you must get my letters."

"Do you want me to buy them from her?"

"I want you to get them, dear boy, get that; get them. Buy them or steal them, or make her give them to you, anything, anything only get them."

"Are they as bad as all that, Jack?"

"To tell you the truth, Syd, I don't know what is in them. I thought I was a very smart letter writer and I just spread on a lot of stuff. Surely you know that a man can make all kinds of a fool of himself when he puts a pen to paper under these circumstances. She never loved me, Syd, any more than I loved her. It was merely a game. I liked her foreign viewpoint; she always dressed well and I liked to take her out to the cafes. It was a case of her wits against mine. She always was trying to get me to propose to her. I have no doubts on that score, and I was always hanging off; she had no doubts of that either. Just get the letters, Syd, and bring them over to Sharon as soon as you can and manage, if you can, to stop that little vixen's mouth some way."

"But how shall I do it, Jack?"

"Oh, murder her if you can't do anything else. Goodbye, I've got to get my train."

By Special Messenger From Sydney Carton to Paula Perier.

MY DEAR MISS PERIER:

I am just passing through town on my way to the marriage of our mutual friend, Jack Prescott. Would you not come down to the Little Club and dine with me this evening, as Jack is already gone on to the home of his fiancée and I am feeling more than ever, a lonely old bachelor.

Sincerely yours,
SIDNEY CARTON.

By Return Messenger From Paula Perier to Sydney Carton.

DEAR MR. CARTON:

So lovely are the flowers, mon ami. Violets are my favorites, did you know? To dine with you I will be very glad and will follow this message tout de suite.

Avec tout mes affections,
PAULA PERIER.

By Special Messenger to the Manager of the "Little Club."

MY DEAR SOMERS:

Could you manage to fix up an especially nice French dinner for me this evening? I want everything served as though it were straight from Paris in Paris. I am entertaining a young lady who is a connoisseur of French food. Make the table as secluded as possible and charge the bill to John Alden Prescott. I need not tell you that John is paying a bet which he lost to me. I want the dinner to be expensive.

Social and Personal

Many Attend Eastern Star Meeting

More than 100 were present at the initiation services held at the Masonic temple last evening when Mrs. Blanche Whittemore, worthy grand matron, was present. After the business session a social time was enjoyed and refreshments served.

A very pleasant part of the evening's entertainment consisted of musical selections. Numbers given were:

Vocal solo—Mrs. Richard Tracy with Mrs. A. J. Arnot as accompanist.

Ladies quartette—Mmes. W. J. Targart, John Larson, A. J. Arnot, and Miss Elizabeth Jones. Mrs. Tracy played the accompaniment.

Piano duet—Misses Emma Taubert and Ruth Rawley.

Peppy Songs Feature of B. & P. W. Dinner

Covers were laid for forty members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club at the get-together dinner at the McKenzie hotel last evening. The feature of the evening was the singing of "peppy" group songs between the courses with the McKenzie Orchestra playing the accompaniments. The dinner closed with the singing of America. Mrs. Blanche Whittemore of Bowman, worthy grand matron of the Eastern Star, was our town guest at the dinner. Miss H. Beach related the plan of the B. & P. W. to back the movement to present "The Marionettes" for the purpose of raising funds to carry on juvenile work among the girls of the city similar to that which is being done among the boys, under the auspices of the Rotary club with J. J. McLeod as director.

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT WILL DO THAT AS NO OTHER FOOD CAN!

Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract.

Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation.

Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked,

Revival Meeting at Evangelical Church Success

A series of special evangelistic services are being held at the Evangelical church, corner 7th and Besser Sts. The first of these meetings was held last evening, when Rev. Guy A. Lewis, of McKenzie, spoke on some essential conditions of living a true Christian life. The services were well attended and very helpful. The meetings are in charge of the pastor of the church, who will be assisted by Rev. Lewis and others. The campaign will continue until Easter. There will be services every evening at 7:45 and every afternoon, except Mondays and Saturdays at 2:30. A cordial welcome is extended to the public to attend these meetings.

Spring's Most Fascinating Modes

"A rainbow colored Spring with no dark secrets" is the fascinating message flashed upon the screen for 1923 spring time modes. And if colors are scintillant with life and gayety, designs are no less buoyant. As expressed in this lovely initial presentation. Youth is the joyous theme which weaves it's golden thread throughout all the story of fashions for Spring.

NIGHT WIRE FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE HAMILTON.

Am getting away sooner than I expected: will be with you tomorrow morning. Have been wondering all the week just how much you love me. Of course I know that I love you enough to forgive you everything and anything, but do you love me enough to do this for the lover who will soon be with you? Starting for the train this minute. Soon the rails will be saying—the miles are shortening between you, the miles are shortening between you.

Telephone Conversation Between Sydney Carton and John Alden Prescott.

"Yes, this is John Prescott speaking."

"John, this is Syd. I couldn't get here before."

"Where are you telephoning from?"

"The East Side station."

"It's too bad you are not at the central station, Syd, as I am leaving the house this minute to catch a train for Sharon."

"But John, I've got to see you before I can do that errand for you."

"Oh, tell Paula anything you want to, but above all you must get my letters."

"Do you want me to buy them from her?"

"I want you to get them, dear boy, get that; get them. Buy them or steal them, or make her give them to you, anything, anything only get them."

"Are they as bad as all that, Jack?"

"To tell you the truth, Syd, I don't know what is in them. I thought I was a very smart letter writer and I just spread on a lot of guff. Surely you know that a man can make all kinds of a fool of himself when he puts a pen to paper under these circumstances."

"No, never loved me, Syd, any more than I loved her. It was merely a game, I liked her foreign viewpoint; she always dressed well and I liked to take her out to the cafes. It was a case of her wits against mine. She always was trying to get me to propose to her. I have no doubts on that score, and I was always hanging off; she had no doubts of that either. Just get the letters, Syd, and bring them over to Sharon as soon as you can and manage, if you can, to stop that little vixen's mouth some way."

"But how shall I do it, Jack?"

"Oh, murder her if you can't do anything else. Goodbye, I've got to get my train."

By Special Messenger From Sydney Carton to Paula Perier.

MY DEAR MISS PERIER:

I am just passing through town on my way to the marriage of our mutual friend, Jack Prescott. Would you not come down to the Little Club and dine with me this evening, as Jack is already gone on to the home of his fiancée and I am feeling more than ever, a lonely old bachelor.

Sincerely yours,
SIDNEY CARTON.

AGAIN A CANDIDATE
That President Harding would be put forward as a candidate for a second term for President was generally accepted as a fact by the people without the assurance of Attorney-General Daugherty and others. It also is quite probable that nothing but a country-wide revulsion, and a conviction by the leaders of the Republican party that the President could not be reelected, would prevent his renomination. The President has a natural advantage in a campaign for renomination. Holding the President more responsible for an administration than Congress, as the country does, he represents in effect the party. And if he is not renominated it is regarded by the public, although it should not be, as a failure of the party's four years of rule. The vast appointing power and commanding position of any President also is difficult to overcome.
Perhaps Mr. Harding may also be strong in the weakness of his opposition. With Herbert Hoover in his cabinet and bound by loyalty to him, with General Wood engaged in a task in the Philippines which appears to be to his liking, and there are not many commanding figures among the opposition at this period. Senator Borah is charged with inconsistency in his attitude on foreign affairs, Senator Johnson's position as a "progressive" has been assailed within his own ranks, La Follette is old and beyond the pale in a few states, former Senator A. J. Beveridge was defeated for Senator in Indiana and retired from politics—all these are pointed to by various spokesmen throughout the country as weaknesses in the opposition.
With the health of the Harding boom lies in the future, particularly in the next session of Congress. With a radical bloc said to number forty or more in the house of representatives and a bloc in the senate which may hold the balance of power in some matters, the next session of Congress, at which North Dakota will be represented in the Senate by Senators Ladd and Frazier, may have a marked influence upon the nomination for President in 1924.

SWEET GRAFT
A sugar famine this year? Not unless housewives stampede and create a shortage by stocking up with a hundred or so pounds for each family. Remember, that's what started the sugar shortage several years ago and shot the price up around 30 cents a pound.
Cuba this year will produce about 197,000 tons more sugar than last year, according to the leading sugar trade authority, Guma-Mejer. The European beet sugar crop will total nearly 400,000 tons more than in the 1921-22 season. In America we started 1923 with "wartime size" stocks of sugar in storage—official government report. Much depends, of course, on the size of the 1923 American crop.
But Cuban sugar, is the main regulator of what we pay for sugar. And the supply of Cuban sugar for this year "appears to be practically the same as was available in 1921," says the market letter which the American Sugar Refining Co. sends to its customers.
In 1921, five to eight cents a pound was considered a good wholesale price for refined sugar here in the United States.

It's hard to get at the truth about the sugar situation, for it's an industry of highly complicated statistics. Let's take a bit of unfavorable news and analyze it:
The American Sugar Refining Co. estimates that the surplus stocks of Cuban sugar around the first of the year 1923 were 1,129,000 tons less than a year before.
Half of this decrease is counteracted by the 1922-23 gain in Cuban and European sugar production.
And it's reasonable to expect that most of the balance will be cancelled by the fact that Americans this coming summer will make less home-made wine than last summer and the one before. The enormous increase in the amount of sugar used by Americans, during the last few years, has been due mainly to home-made wines. Fifty pounds of sugar doesn't look like much to a cellar chemist. Wine making is on the wane "too much trouble, not worth the fuss."

We dig into the newspaper files and in 1920 find Edgar Watkins, counsel for the Southern Grocers' Association, quoted as saying: "Refinery prices for sugar the first four months of this year ranged from 14 to 18 cents a pound, while most brokers quoted them at 27 and 30 cents a pound."
As you'll recall, sugar led all other commodities when it came to speculation and exorbitant prices. During the sugar "famine," the law of supply and demand was temporarily repealed. The surest, quickest way to play into speculators' hands is to buy a lot of sugar and store it in the attic.

ELECTRIC
One out of every four tons of coal mined in America is consumed by the railroads.
Obviously, the first logical step to end coal shortages would be to electrify the roads. This would save coal. Also it would release thousands of cars now tied up hauling coal to points where it is stored until locomotives take it aboard.
On the other hand, the "transportation problem" may be merely the waning of railroads that run on tracks. We may be on the verge of freight and passenger traffic in the air. Stage coach system became inadequate just before steam railroads arrived.

SPECTACULAR
An airplane manned by Lawrence B. Sperry takes aboard a fresh supply of fuel, without stopping, while flying 65 miles an hour. It reminds you of the express train picking up mail bags as it roars through small towns.
Items like this reveal that the development of the airplane is going ahead swiftly. Sperry's plane weighs less than 800 pounds. Compare that with your auto. The flying flivver—cheap, safe—will come.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

GOOD PROSPECTS
With the new Yellowstone Trail route south of the railroad tracks, shortening the route from here to Rhame by about eight miles—practically an assured fact, with a new and improved road across the gulches to Camp Creek and a new road to the "all" works in the making with every probability that our big, modern high school building will be completed this year and with fine prospects for a splendid year next year, Marmarth has a wonderful prospectus before her regardless of the oil possibilities. Add to the above the fact that this great Marmarth "oil" field which has been favorably passed upon by many of the nation's foremost geological students is on the threshold of development, and you have a future that promises to gladden the hearts of the most conservative. Marmarth (N. D.) Mail.

A BOLSHIEVIST HAMLET
The soviet commissariat of education goes Ben Johnson one better in holding that Shakespeare was not only "not for an age, but for all time," but that he is for all nations under every form of government. A commonplace of Shakespearean criticism maintains that the immortal Bard's greatest drama, "Hamlet," is contemporary to all posterity, no matter how their philosophy and social ideals may change. This opinion might be cited to justify the bolshie-vist adoption of the Prince of Denmark as a medium for propaganda.
Rewriting a considerable portion of the text will be considered a profanation in our day, though it was common enough in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Not even the elder Dumas, when he reconstructed "Romeo and Juliet," to bring about a happy ending, with the young lovers married and settled, went so far as the soviet commissariat in directing that Polonius shall be made up as Lloyd George and spout the speeches of the former, British prime minister regarding Russia.
The Prince of Denmark is to be transformed into a thoughtful and valiant young communist champion fighting the despised bourgeoisie and wicked capitalism, while "To be or not to be" and other soliloquies will give way to soul-searching interpretations of Marxian socialism. Philadelphia Bulletin.

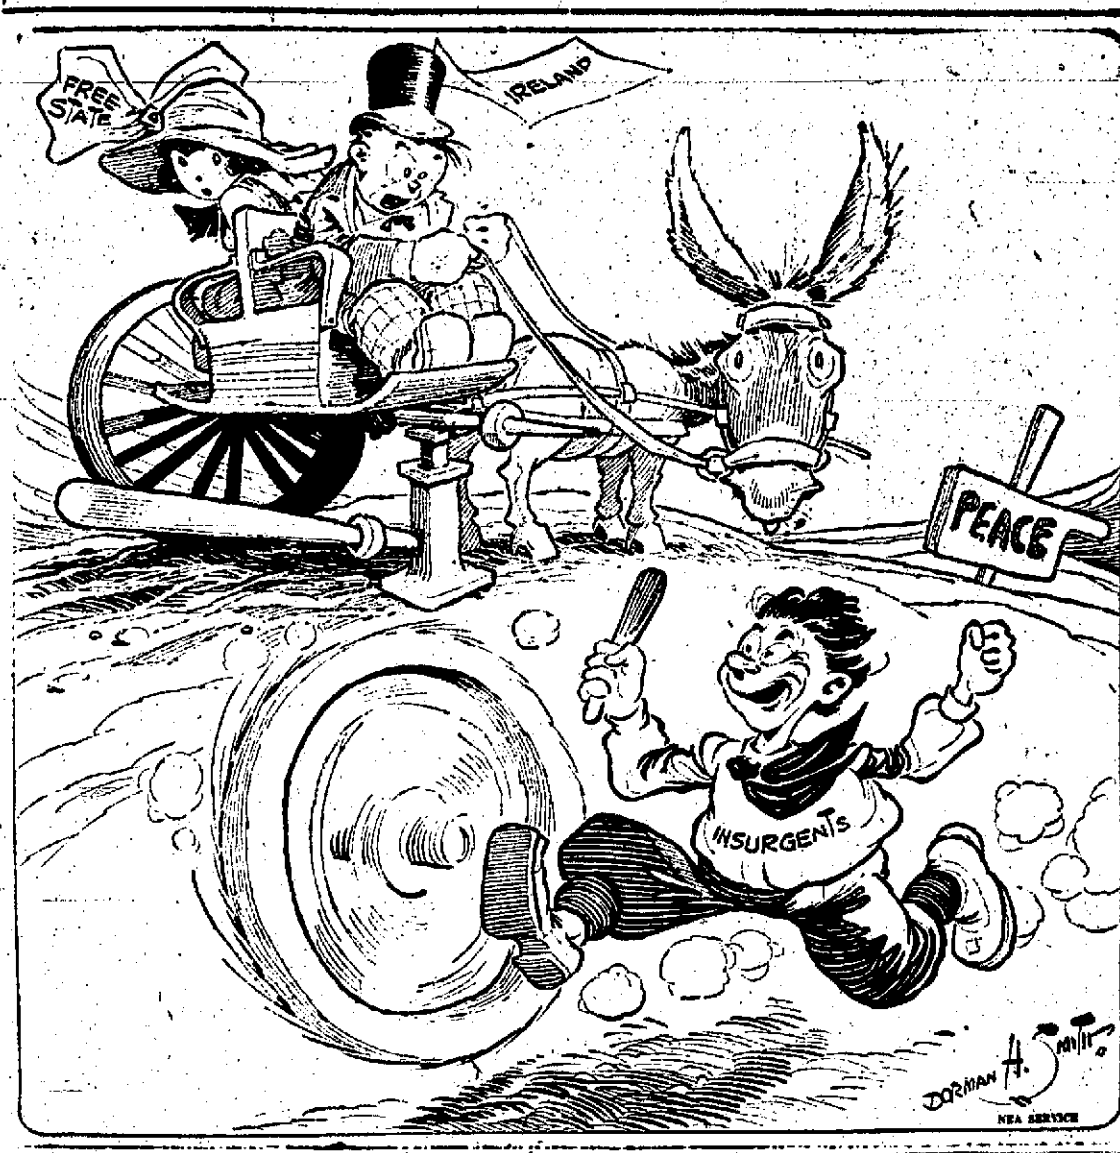

RUSSIAN YOUTH ACTIVE ATHEISTS

Moscow, Mar. 21.—Christmas day on the Russian calendar, January 7, the day on which this year the young communists all over Russia staged grotesque anti-religious demonstrations, is to be entered on the official records as a permanent holiday under the name of "The Day of the Depositing of the Gods." In addition to the great procession of communist students in Moscow on January 7, reports from the provinces indicate that in virtually every city and village of Russia these atheist youths held mock celebrations in the churches.
The government, which in some ways, oppressed the churches from the very beginning of the Bolshie-vist revolution did not, however, take any steps to close churches until this year. In Moscow several of the smaller street chapels before, which the faithful were accustomed to bow and cross themselves for many centuries are now to be closed.
It is announced. Workmen at the town of Brinsk and the local clergyman, and the official press, particularly the smaller papers intended for the workmen now contain daily attacks on religion in general and the church in particular. A campaign against baptism.
Most of the young communists who are directing the anti-religious campaign declare they are sincere atheists even though most of them have as parents peasants who cross themselves before every shrine, and who even now consider their children as anti-religious, surely bound for hell and damnation.
An amusing story is told in Moscow of one of these youths who, in absolute himself of the sins of having scoffed at God during the celebration went to church the next day, confessed his sin, and accepted a heavy penance.

Vendetta begins between Michael Sayers, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREY, one of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful house maid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead the officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. When Sir Norman is living at his country house the police ask him to help capture a criminal whom they believe to be at the head of a dangerous gang. On his way to London, Grey's car is stopped and he is shot through the shoulder. Grey asks Janet to dine with him. Janet accepts. Acting upon Michael's command Janet puts poison in Sir Norman's coffee, but she forgets her act and purposely upsets the cup. Sayers tells this episode:
I was at St. Pancras Station to meet Gorty and Metzger on their arrival in England. I saw the seven black tin boxes with brass clasps, handed out of the guard's van and placed on the roof of a taxi cab. I knew as though it were foredoomed that the contents of these boxes would be mine before the week was out. I felt certain, too, that one at least of the two men would fight to death before I obtained possession of them. They were well worth it, however.
It was a foggy night, and I lingered with perfect safety on the outskirts of the little throng of people who had come to greet these two men. They were a rough lot, on the whole—men of the lowest type, swarthy and unclean. I saw hungry glances directed toward those black boxes, and I knew that, given sufficient cunning and address, I would not be the first by a long way to take a blow for their acquisition. But of these others I had no fear. Gorty and Metzger knew their friends, knew them well enough not to trust them.
I walked back through the fog to my humble little flat in Adam Street. Those were gloomy days, even for me, who cared little for the physical comforts of life. I was missing as Mr. Arthur Younghusband, LL.D., a cousin of the well-known solicitor of Lincoln's Inn, in town to consult works of reference at the British Museum. Day by day I walked to that gloomy mausoleum of dead knowledge, spent an hour or so there, and back to my rooms. No one deigned to interrupt. By devious ways I had shaken off all pursuit and suspicion. Yet life was a wearisome thing. I am not a man with many human weaknesses, but I should have welcomed a visit from Janet—a little dinner, perhaps, at the Cafe Royal, a peep into the world of many-colored pleasure outside of which my path lay. These things, however, I knew were not for me. Janet was watched, as I knew beyond a doubt; even if she were not, she had failed me in my last demand. Janet presented a problem to be solved.
On the third day after the arrival of Gorty and Metzger, I visited my solicitors, the firm of Younghusband, Nicholson and Younghusband, at Lincoln's Inn. My reputed cousin granted me an interview within a few minutes of my arrival. We spoke for a time of my studies and their progress. Then there was a pause. The door was closed; the walk of the room were thick.
"Things progress?" I demanded, leaning across his wide, untidy table.
Mr. Younghusband smiled benevolently. In these moments of direct speech I was accustomed to forget my assumed personality and to speak with all the quick incisiveness that was natural to me. My legal adviser, however, never altered his manner of reply or deportment. He

"What do you mean by that?" he demanded harshly. "Do you know that she has been here, the one place in London you should have been careful to keep her away from, if you had any doubts?"
"I have no doubts whatever as to her fidelity," I declared. "You know what I mean when I say that, in the parlance of our friends, she has gone soft. It is a pity."
Mr. Younghusband seemed relieved but puzzled.
"A woman who could do what she did on the golf-links at Woking," he murmured, "is, I am sure, 'most have changed very much, if she merits your present criticism."
The subject was by no means a pleasant one to me. I abandoned it. "In any case," I reminded him, "she is in touch with Greys, and he knows too much."
"Wonderful capacity for existence," that man," Mr. Younghusband remarked suavely.
Harsh deeds—I am not a lover of them. I seldom go out of my way to kill, or allow my subordinates to do so, if my ends can be obtained otherwise. At that moment, however, I felt a sudden resurgence in my brain of that one bloodthirsty desire to my life.
"As soon as this affair is safely concluded," I said, "and we are in funds once more, I shall take occasion to deal with Norman Greys myself."
"It occurs to me that you would be well advised," my companion acquiesced. "The person in question possesses the one gift which might make him dangerous to us. He has imagination."
I nodded. I was tracing figures upon the blotting-paper, debating with myself different methods of dealing with Norman Greys.
"Every channel which might lead to the firm of Younghusband, Nicholson and Younghusband," the lawyer continued meditatively, "seems, so far as human ingenuity could arrange it, permanently blocked, but a man with imagination who is not afraid to work on guesswork is always to be feared."
"It will not be my fault," I promised, as I took my leave, "if you have any cause to fear Norman Greys after the next month or so."
That night, in the language of those forgotten war communiquees, everything happened according to plan. At a quarter to nine, Metzger, who was writing alone in his sittingroom, heard a soft knocking at the door which communicated with the adjoining suite. He rose promptly, unlocked the outside door of his own rooms, and softly withdrew the bolt of the door to the next suite. He stood there with an involuntary gasp, and saw the face of Madame de Miquels laid its cautioning finger upon her somewhat overpainted lips as she stole over the threshold.

THE DESERT.
Salome, Ariz.
The Desert is a Boy that they use to scare the timid girl.
It really isn't very bad, its air is of the purest, with
A tingle and a sparkle that are bound to make you vigorous.
Although of course the desert sun is frequently quite rigorous.
But on the tales that we were told of motorists lost in it; And how they were saved by days-by-cruel-and-storms-tested in it!
The roads, they said, were terrible, untraceable, unseekable.
You'd have to hire a flock of guides through terrors quite unspeakable.
But none the less we took a chance, we found a trail well tramped in it.
And when the desert darkness fell we pitched our tent and camped in it.
No centipedes disturbed our sleep, no rattlesnakes molested us.
Beneath a clear and starry sky we cooked our meal and rested as in it!
The desert road was not so worse. I've traveled lots of tougher ones. It had some soft and sandy spots, and other chucky, rougher ones. But not one single mile of it would worry or would scare a son of Mississipp' or Alabam'. Boy, there is no comparison!
If ever you should tour the west, don't let the desert frighten you. The novices cross it every day, and if you've pep and fight in you, You'll navigate its shifting sands and rocky roads, no doubt of it. And tell the world it's not so bad as you come safely out of it!

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy and Nick met a green-sugar pie in Sugar-Plum Land. "Hello!" cried Nick.
"Hello!" grunted the pig. "The top of the mornin' to you both."
"Thank you," said Nancy. "But why is the top better than the bottom, sir?"
"We are on our way to the house of the Cut-Out lady," explained Nancy. "She does mending for the Gingerbread Man and sews all his buttons on crooked every time his knick-knack dog bites her cocoon cat. She gets so cross she can't see out of her one eye, and that's why she sews the buttons on wrong."
"Begorra, what of that?" asked Pat Green-Sugar Pig, good naturedly. "I wear no clothes at all, at all, and sure if I did I wouldn't mind a crooked button or two."
"But don't you see?" explained Nancy. "When the buttons are on crooked they won't go into the button holes and the Gingerbread Man gets upset. As he is boss of Sugar-Plum Land, it upsets everybody else, too, because he makes silly laws."
"That's too bad!" said Pat Green-Sugar Pig. "But don't let's worry. I'll tell you a secret. If you put hard, my head comes off and down inside of me you'll find some cinnamon drops. But be sure to put my head on again or I'll be no ornament to the community."
"Oh, we will, we will!" promised Nancy. So the pig's head was taken off and very shortly put on again.
"Thank you," said the Twins. "The drops are delicious."
"Now I'll be going," said Pat. "Give my love to the Gingerbread Man and tell him not to worry about trifles like buttons."

OLD NORTHERN LEAGUE MAY BE STARTED AGAIN

Cantillon Calls Meeting in Effort to Put Plan Into Operation

Grand Forks, Mar. 21.—Mike Cantillon, owner of the Minneapolis club of the American association, is again talking revival of the old Northern league, and has called a meeting of representatives from Winnipeg, Fargo, Grand Forks, Duluth, Superior, St. Cloud, Chisholm, Hibbing and Eveleth-Virginia. The meeting has been set for April 3, in Hibbing.

Mike started this talk some months ago and wrote to some of the backers of the club that Grand Forks had in the old organization. From what can be learned he got little satisfaction, and as far as known there has been nothing said about the matter to local men lately. The news of the proposed meeting at Hibbing was received here yesterday through dispatches.

Cantillon is very much interested in having a Class D league in this part of the country for the purpose of farming out his Miller recruits and also as a possible field for ivory hunters. With the breaking up of the Dakota league, of which he was president, the chance of farming his players close to home where he can watch them has passed, and he is therefore trying to resurrect the Northern league.

Fargo dropped $1,000 in the Dakota league last year and disbanded its club some time ago. It probably would take considerable to revive the game there this year. The fact that Cantillon is at the head of the move probably would not help much, as it is understood that the fans down there are not enthusiastic about him. However, the league could elect its own president, and that would not stand in the way. They were not satisfied with the brand of baseball in the Dakota league there, either, and did not support the team. With prospects of higher class players, that also might influence favorable consideration. If Grand Forks went in there probably would be little doubt but that Fargo would join.

WINGFIELD TO PLAY IN SOUTH

ARMY SHOES PURCHASED FOR STATE'S USE

Inmates of Institutions to go to Work in Shoes Bought For World War

Inmates of three state institutions will work in the fields this summer in heavy marching shoes bought originally by the United States government for service in the field and in trenches in France during the World War. One thousand pairs of these shoes have been purchased by the State Board of Administration, through its purchasing department. The shoes, which will supply the state hospital for the insane, the state penitentiary and the feeble-minded institution at Grafton, were purchased at a favorable price, the price being $2.03 a pair less 15 per cent. M. E. McIntyre, purchasing agent of the board, said. The shoes originally cost the government $7 a pair, he added. A considerable saving from the market value of such shoes was made in the purchase, he added. Deliveries will be made from army stores at Leavenworth, Kansas.

The purchasing department, now engaged in preparing to receive bids for the quarterly supplies for state institutions, is finding that the cost of living is increasing, according to Mr. McIntyre. Estimates on purchases of most articles, including provisions, clothing, equipment, such as farm machinery, hospital and industrial supplies show an increase, he said, particularly in comparison to prices a year ago.

Not much clothing will be purchased for the quarter from April 1 to June 30. Six months ago, seeing a rise in prices, Mr. McIntyre purchased sufficient clothing for twice the usual period and increase in price of the goods since that time discloses a substantial saving was effected.

HUGHES 'TAKES BACK' WORD ON BRITISH SHIPS

Secretary of State and Department Formally Re-tract Statements

Washington, March 21.—Public statements by officials of the United States government to the effect that substantial alterations had been effected in British capital ships to increase their battle range and defensive armament were formally corrected by both the state and navy departments.

Acting on the assurance of the British government that their information was inaccurate, Secretary Hughes recalled reference he had made to the British naval modifications in his speech at New Haven last December, and Acting Secretary Roosevelt took similar action with respect to statements he had made before congressional committees.

England Denies Report
At both departments it was indicated that the corrections had been made after the British government had called attention to the effect in Great Britain of repeated references by high public officials in the United States to changes in the status of the British treaty fleet.

Mr. Hughes' statement follows: "In my speech at New Haven on December 29, 1922, I made the following statement with respect to alterations in the British capital ships: 'The result is that in a considerable number of British ships bulges have been fitted, elevations of turret guns increased and turret loading arrangements modified to conform to increased elevations.' " "In making this statement, I relied upon specific information which had been furnished by the navy department and which of course, the navy department believed to be true.

Takes British Word For It
"The department of state has been advised by the British government categorically that no alterations have been made in the elevation of the turret guns of any British capital ships since they were placed in commission and further that no additional deck protection has been provided since February 6, 1922, the date of the signing of the Washington treaty."

"It gives me pleasure to make this correction as it is desired that there should be no public misapprehension."

Secretary Roosevelt assumed responsibility for the data used by Secretary Hughes, but declared it had been "based on information believed to be reliable by the state department."

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

"Hair-Groom" Keeps Hair Combed—Well-Groomed

Millions Use It—Fine for Hair! —Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly

Get a jar of "Hair-Groom" from any druggist for a few cents and make even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stay combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Greaseless, stainless "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore your hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.

It Pays to Swim With the Current

This is about two spark plugs. At the moment they are lying on the sales manager's desk in the establishment of a large middle-western hardware jobber.

One spark plug bears a name known wherever automobiles are used, the other a name seldom heard.

Both, says the sales manager, are good plugs. On the score of quality they run neck and neck.

"But," he adds, "we are discontinuing this line"—and he holds up the plug of unfamiliar name. "Yes, and our discount on it is larger, too."

"What's wrong with it? Not a thing. It's a good plug—mighty good plug, but—no one knows about it. It isn't advertised—the other one is. The demand is for the advertised make. And we've learned it pays to swim with the current, not against it."

More and more jobbers in every line of business are learning every day that it pays to swim with the current of popular demand.

"Our job," said one jobber, "is to supply markets, not create them. Let the manufacturer make a market for his goods, and we will handle it."

Said another — "Our salesman carry a catalog with thousands of items in it. They haven't the time to push unadvertised goods. Their work is principally taking orders."

If you go among these wholesalers today to introduce a new product in competition with merchandise nationally advertised, unless the article is exceptional, you will be met everywhere by the injunction: "First go out and get a reputation for your goods through advertising."

The wholesaler knows by actual contact with dealers how they value speed of turn-over, goods which move with a minimum of effort, goods people know about and ask for.

Reports of New Export Business Have Bullish Influence on Market

Chicago, Mar. 21.—Buying on the part of houses with eastern connections brought about a material upturn in the price of wheat today during the early dealings. Indication of new export business on this side of the Atlantic together with higher quotations at Liverpool had considerable bullish influence. Besides an advance in French exchange rates tended also to strengthen values, the inference being drawn that more stable economic conditions in central Europe were looked for. The opening which ranged from one-half to 1 1/4 cents higher, with May, $1.22 1/2 to $1.23 1/4, and July, $1.17 1/2 to $1.18 1/2, was followed by a slight reaction.

It was estimated that 600,000 bushels, including 200,000 bushels of durum had been purchased today for shipment to Europe. Profit taking sales eased the market in the last half of the day. Prices closed steady, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/2 cent higher, with May, $1.21 1/2 to $1.22 1/2, and July, $1.16 1/4 to $1.17 1/4. No. 2 red, $1.38; No. 1 hard, $1.24.

SPORTS

OLD NORTHERN LEAGUE MAY BE STARTED AGAIN

Cantillon Calls Meeting in Effort to Put Plan Into Operation

Grand Forks, Mar. 21.—Mike Cantillon, owner of the Minneapolis club of the American association, is again talking revival of the old Northern league, and has called a meeting of representatives from Winnipeg, Fargo, Grand Forks, Duluth, Superior, St. Cloud, Chisholm, Hibbing and Eveleth-Virginia. The meeting has been set for April 3, in Hibbing.

Mike started this talk some months ago and wrote to some of the backers of the club that Grand Forks had in the old organization. From what can be learned he got little satisfaction, and as far as known there has been nothing said about the matter to local men lately. The news of the proposed meeting at Hibbing was received here yesterday through dispatches.

Cantillon is very much interested in having a Class D league in this part of the country for the purpose of turning out his "Miller" recruits and also as a possible field for ivory hunters. With the breaking up of the Dakota league, of which he was president, the chance of farming his players close to home where he can watch them has passed, and he is therefore trying to resurrect the Northern league.

Fargo dropped $14,000 in the Dakota league last year and disbanded its club some time ago. It probably would take considerable to revive the game there this year. The fact that Cantillon is at the head of the move probably would not help much, as it is understood that the fans down there are not enthusiastic about him. However, the league could elect its own president, and that would not stand in the way. They were not satisfied with the brand of baseball in the Dakota league there, either, and did not support the team. With prospects of higher class players, that also might influence favorable consideration. If Grand Forks went in there probably would be little doubt but that Fargo would join.

Fans in Grand Forks are holding for league baseball, and for a year at least would undoubtedly support it well. The fact that there has been a big boom in all sports here during the last few years, would all so affect the attendance favorably. As a matter of fact, nothing has been done, and it is a question whether anything will.

WINGFIELD TO PLAY IN SOUTH

Fargo, Mar. 21.—Henry A. Wingfield, who managed the Fargo club of the Dakota league last season, has signed to catch for Mobile in the Southern association for the coming season. Wingfield left Saturday for Mobile, where he will join the club in spring training.

Last season "Wing" batted well over the 300 mark and was rated as one of the leading catchers in the loop.

ARMY SHOES PURCHASED FOR STATE'S USE

Inmates of Institutions to go to Work in Shoes Bought For World War

Inmates of three state institutions will work in the fields this summer in heavy marching shoes bought originally by the United States government for service in the field and in trenches in France during the World War. One thousand pairs of these shoes have been purchased by the State Board of Administration, through its purchasing department. The shoes, which will supply the state hospital for the insane, the state penitentiary and the feeble-minded institution at Grifton, were purchased at a favorable price, the price being $2.00 a pair less 15 per cent, M. E. McIntyre, purchasing agent of the board, said. The shoes originally cost the government $7 a pair, he added. A considerable saving from the market value of such shoes was made in the purchase, he added. Deliveries will be made from army stores at Leavenworth, Kansas.

HUGHES 'TAKES BACK' WORD ON BRITISH SHIPS

Secretary of State and Department Formally Re-tract Statements

Washington, March 21.—Public statements by officials of the United States government to the effect that substantial alterations had been effected in British capital ships to increase their battle range and defensive armament were formally corrected by both the state and navy departments.

Acting on the assurance of the British government that their information was inaccurate, Secretary Hughes recalled reference he had made to the British naval modifications in his speech at New Haven last December, and Acting Secretary Roosevelt took similar action with respect to statements he had made before congressional committees.

England Denies Report
At both departments it was indicated that the corrections had been made after the British government had called attention to the effect in Great Britain of repeated references by high public officials in the United States to changes in the status of the British treaty fleet.

Mr. Hughes' statement follows: "In my speech at New Haven on December 29, 1922, I made the following statement with respect to alterations in the British capital ships. "The result is that in a considerable number of British ships bulges have been fitted, elevations of turret guns increased and turret loading arrangements modified to conform to increased elevations." "In making this statement, I relied upon specific information which had been furnished by the navy department and which of course, the navy department believed to be true."

Takes British Word For It
"The department of state has been advised by the British government categorically that no alterations have been made in the elevation of the turret guns of any British capital ships since they were placed in commission and further that no additional deck protection has been provided since February 6, 1922, the date of the signing of the Washington treaty." "It gives me pleasure to make this correction as it is desired that there should be no public misapprehension."

Secretary Roosevelt assumed responsibility for the data used by Secretary Hughes, but declared it had been "based on information believed to be reliable by the state department."

It Pays to Swim With the Current

This is about two spark plugs. At the moment they are lying on the sales manager's desk in the establishment of a large middle-western hardware jobber.

One spark plug bears a name known wherever automobiles are used, the other a name seldom heard.

Both, says the sales manager, are good plugs. On the score of quality they run neck and neck.

"But," he adds, "we are discontinuing this line"—and he holds up the plug of unfamiliar name. "Yes, and our discount on it is larger, too."

"What's wrong with it? Not a thing. It's a good plug—mighty good plug, but—no one knows about it. It isn't advertised—the other one is. The demand is for the advertised make. And we've learned it pays to swim with the current, not against it."

More and more jobbers in every line of business are learning every day that it pays to swim with the current of popular demand.

"Our job," said one jobber, "is to supply markets, not create them. Let the manufacturer make a market for his goods, and we will handle it."

Said another — "Our salesman carry a catalog with thousands of items in it. They haven't the time to push unadvertised goods. Their work is principally taking orders."

If you go among these wholesalers today to introduce a new product in competition with merchandise nationally advertised, unless the article is exceptional, you will be met everywhere by the injunction: "First go out and get a reputation for your goods through advertising."

The wholesaler knows by actual contact with dealers how they value speed of turn-over, goods which move with a minimum of effort, goods people know about and ask for.

ALLIES TAKE UP TURKISH PEACE PLANS

Informal Conference Held in London to Consider Proposals Submitted

TO NAME EXPERTS

London, Mar. 21.—Representatives of the allied governments are seeking today to consider the Turkish counter proposals to the Lausanne conference.

The gathering presided over by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, is not a formal conference but rather has as its purpose a preliminary examination of the Turks' reply.

It is understood that after the discussion among the delegates committees of experts will be appointed to whom different sections of the proposals will be submitted for a report.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan are the nations directly represented.

U. S. MAY LIFT ITS RULES ON WAVE LENGTHS

Washington, Mar. 21.—Continuing its executive session today the committee of radio experts and government officials called in by Secretary Hoover to deal in transportation difficulties resulting from rapid development of the radio field faced the problem of working out an entirely new scheme of allocated wave lengths.

Mr. Hoover said the government might be willing to relinquish part of its present monopoly of the wave lengths bands between 600 and 1,600 meters.

CALL FOR HELP AT HILLSBORO AS FIRE RAGES

Hillsboro, N. D., Mar. 21.—Three wooden buildings were destroyed by fire early this morning, the total property loss being about $20,000 with $5,000 insurance. The buildings were occupied by the Trail County Press, a meat market and a restaurant, respectively. A call for help was sent to Grand Forks and the fire department of that city loaded apparatus on freight cars but before the train had left the flames were under control.

TOWNLEY SPEAKS AT REYNOLDS

Grand Forks, Mar. 21.—A. C. Townley, former head of the Nonpartisan league, has opened his campaign in North Dakota for the new organization of farmers which he is sponsoring. He spoke to a fair-sized audience at Reynolds, N. D., Tuesday night and is scheduled to speak at Devils Lake this afternoon.

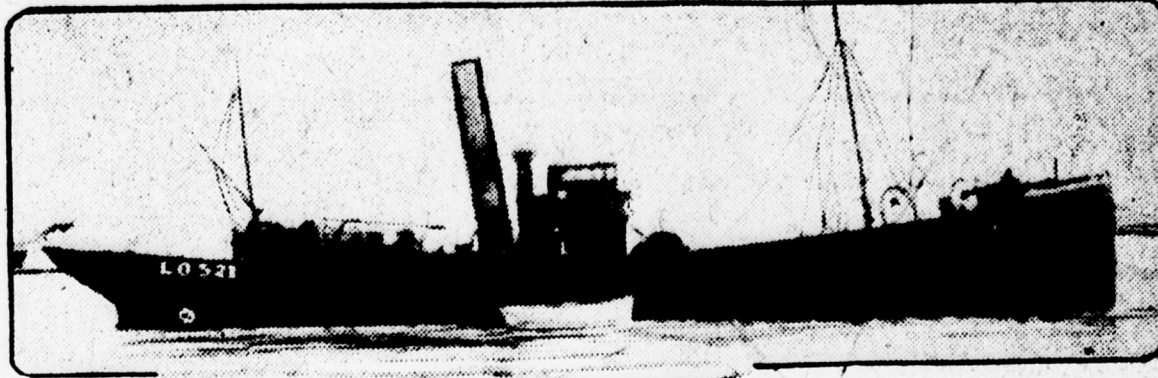

BEAUTIFY HAIR IN A MOMENT

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair

At once! You can transform even plain, dull flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed. Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

DECIDE UPON DIVISION OF EQUITY STOCK

Replies from Stockholders Indicate They Are Pleased With Expectations

Fargo, March 21.—Stockholders of the Equity Cooperative Packing company will receive one share of stock in the new company after the resale of each three shares they now hold, according to tentative plans.

A meeting will be held here tomorrow which will practically close negotiations for the sale of the plant to Harry A. Emerson, and his associates of New York.

Replies from more than half of the stockholders indicate approval of the sale, declared C. H. Ritt, president of the company.

Associated with Emerson are said to be several representatives of Danish commercial interests including Victor Hanson and Peter Peterson. It is reported that $300,000 will represent the price at which the men will take over the plant in name of Fargo Packing company pending the organization of the new company under laws of Delaware at $5,000,000. Four of the nine directors were to be chosen from among the Minnesota and North Dakota stockholders it is planned.

Jamestown Women Give Party for Service Men

Places were laid for thirty-nine ex-service men at the March birthday party given the men receiving treatment at the state hospital by the Jamestown Auxiliary committee composed of Miss A. E. Knauf, O. C. Wonnemore, and F. E. Rathman, assisted by Miss Marie Millette, occupational therapy instructor at the institution.

A large birthday cake surmounted with candles formed a centerpiece on the dining room table. A delightful entertainment feature was a fish pond from which the men fished and were able to make the desired kind of catch since Miss Millette knew the particular article for which they were fishing. Several whistling numbers were given by Robin Neihauer with his mother, Mrs. Neihauer as accompanist.

Mrs. Knauf, state hospitalization chairman, gave a very interesting report of the various gifts and remembrances sent to the hospital by various organizations and Auxiliaries. Boxes of candy and cookies were received from Mayville auxiliary as a St. Patrick day treat while a box of cookies and five boxes of candy from the Binford. A number of useful articles of clothing and pieces for the sick were received. The gift from the local auxiliary consisted of four suits of pajamas for the men. In the pocket of each suit was a note of cheer from the hospitalization committee and the name of the auxiliary making it.

Body Found on G. N. Right of Way That of T. J. Townsend

Minot, March 21.—The body of the dead man discovered yesterday morning along the right of way of the Great Northern railroad, one mile east of here was positively identified as that of T. J. Townsend of Devils Lake, a traveling man for the Northwestern Sheetmetal and Iron works at Wahpeton.

The exact cause of his death is still a mystery but the theory advanced is that he fell from an eastbound train as a ticket from Devils Lake is said to have been found in his pocket. The ticket was dated March 18. And it is possible that the man may have been dead two days before he was found.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

GRAIN MEN MERGE BODIES

Amalgamation Decided Upon at Meeting in Minot

Minot, N. D., Mar. 21.—Amalgamation of the Farmers Grain Dealers association and the Grainmen's Union was perfected this forenoon by unanimous vote of delegates attending joint convention of the two organizations here.

The merger, according to the officers of the two organizations means a total membership of 1,000 for the new association, the name for which will be selected tomorrow.

"I believe that this merger will be a good thing for the grain trade as a whole," said President Grumbleman of the Farmers Grain Dealers association, following the amalgamation vote.

Acid Stomach

Don't Worry If Gassy, Sour, Belching Stomach Follows a Meal. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Sugars, starches and meats of the average meal often sour and cause gas because the stomach cannot at the time produce the alkaline effect to prevent acidity. So your recourse is one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets chewed after eating or any time. They are pleasant white tablets and they do the work so nicely and comfortably that you feel great, you approach the next meal contentedly and you learn the secret of good living and how to take care of the stomach if troubled with indigestion. You can get these tablets at almost any drug store in the U. S. and Canada at 60 cents a box. Those who fear to eat pie, cheese, sausage, pastry and the good things of the table for fear of a sour, acid stomach due to indigestion go back to them without fear or distress. Get a box of these tablets today.—Adv.

Tribune Advertising

Every successful merchant and manufacturer advertises. That's one of the main reasons they have succeeded—they'll tell you so themselves.

For local advertising The Bismarck Tribune is the best possible medium—going into hundreds of homes of all classes—homes that constitute the buyers you wish to reach.

Watch the ads in The Tribune and see the advertisers who voice their agreement by using its columns.
